BECAUSE SHE ISN'T MENTIONED IN WILL OF 'LUCKY' BALDWIN, WOMAN TRIES TO END LIFE

PETER HAINS IS DECLARED GUILTY BY JURYMEN

Verdic of Manslaughter Is Returned After Four Hours' Deliberations

MAXIMUM PENALTY 20 YEARS IN PRISON

Counsel For Convicted Man Will Take Appeal on the Case

FLUSHING, N. Y., May 11.--The jury in the case of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., P. S. A., charged with the murder of William E. Annis on August 16, 1908 brought in a verdict of guilty to manslaughter in the first degree this afternoon. The jury had been out four hours.

The defendant was remanded to the custody of the sheriff for sentence Monday morning.

It is expected that counsel for Hains will make the usual motion or a stay of sentence and will take an appeal.

The maximum penalty is 20 years in prison.

FLUSHING, N. Y., May 11—The jury at 12:05 today was given the case of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., charged with shooting William E. Annis This afternoon Attorney McIntyre, for the defense, said

"We believe the jury will be out twenty-four hours and then be discharged on account of their inability to reach a verdict."

McIntyre said after the jury retired that he had creditable information that two of the jurors were opposed to a defense of insanity and would not vote for acquittal on that ground.

Soon after the trial began today Ex-District Attorney Gross concluded his argument and came the charge of Justice Garretson.

Gen. Hains and Mrs. Hains, the defendant's parent, came into court a few minutes after the charge was started. They did not go to the prisoner but took their seats near the table at which he sat.

In the event of Captain Hains acquittal on the grounds of insanity at the time he shot and killed Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club last August the question of his present mental status arises. McIntyre has not hesitated to say that he believes his client is insane at the present time. Should Judge Carretson share this belief he may issue an order for the defendant to be confined in a State lunatic asylum until he is pronounced cured.

SHRINERS WANT TEMPLE FOR OAKLAND

Meet Around Banquet Board at Key Route Inn and Discuss Plans

WILL ASK PERMISSION OF MASONIC ORDER

Such an Institution Would Give City Prestige of Commercial Character

The Shriners of this city for more than a year have been contemplating the erection of a temple in this city. Last night at the Key Route Inn for the purpose of organizing and taking the necessary steps to secure permission to building the temple from the Mason of the State.

While there is unanimity on the matter in question among the members of the order in this city there is a stumbling block on the path which it is to surmount and that is the opposition to the [illegible] of the local Shriners in the part of Islam Temple of San Francisco to which the Shriners of this city and vicinity belong.

There are three hundred Shriners in this section and if they should be permitted to withdraw from Islam Temple they would have a holding in the membership list of that organization which would be quite formidable. Notwithstanding that that temple is one of the largest institutions of the kind in the country.

Opposition to the withdrawal of the Oakland Shriners is also made on the ground that some of them would be set back from Islam one among the most active and prominent that temple had naturally the old organization is loath to part with any of its members.

Limit to Temples

Of course there cannot be a Shriners temple in every city but it was the precedent of the order here in the Golden State. But it should be Shriners temples established in the big cities. It would give Oakland the only one on the Mexican border and the only one in the Central West. That is no doubt however that Oakland here would have a handsomer [illegible] than any in the country. Such a temple of this character means a lot to a city's population and importance but it will be an [illegible] to the city then as of the Shriners. The cities that would be attracted to import [illegible] to this city which would not [illegible] from commercial standpoint.

The local Shriners in favor of [illegible] this [illegible] objection [illegible] working in [illegible] with the Masonic order and [illegible] with the Shriners of San Francisco [illegible] which [illegible] the interests of the Shriners of San Francisco [illegible] but they most [illegible] the new

Want Concurrence

The next thing that will be done by the local Shriners will be to ask Islam Temple Shriners to [illegible] in request of the Oakland Shriners to withdraw from Islam and to be permitted to establish a local temple. This consistory to be [illegible] of the supreme temple which [illegible] may be added in its action in the matter by the moral [illegible] of the local [illegible] the welfare of the [illegible].

TO ASK OWNERS TO REPAIR WALKS

Councilman Stiefvater Heads Plan For Replacing Defective Pavements

Steps were taken by the City Council last night looking to the replacement and repairing of each and every defective sidewalk in the city.

Councilman Stiefvater stated that in many places the sidewalks were in a deplorable condition and he thought that the property owners would have enough civic pride to [illegible] the sidewalks if their attention was called to it. Stiefvater then moved that the street department be notified to inform each and every property owner to repair all defective walks.

Councilman Ellsworth thought that the matter should go to committee first to allow the perfection of a plan of operation.

"If we merely notify the people generally that they must repair their sidewalks no attention will be paid to it. We should have a specific plan. There are probably 5000 sidewalks that need repairs. We should obtain [illegible] not only of notifying the property owners but carrying out the orders of the Council as well."

Chairman Peoples then referred Stiefvater's resolution to the street committee.

DULL SESSIONS IN THE CALHOUN TRIAL ON ACCOUNT OF TECHNICAL EVIDENCE THAT'S BEING OFFERED

Prosecution Admitted to Have Failed in Getting the 'Boodling' Supervisors to Come Through---Bolstering Up Circumstantial Evidence Phase.

SAN FRANCISCO May 11 — The closing days of the prosecution in the trial of Patrick Calhoun have become extremely dull and monotonous The testimony offered by the prosecution is purely technical and hour after hour long columns of figures and the perusal of journals ledgers minutes and cash books all tend to tire the jurors as well as the spectators and even the principals

This is the result of a new tack on the part of the district attorney In view of the fact that it is well recognized that the boodling supervisors from Big Jim Gallagher down to Colman and Andy Wilson did not come through with the evidence expected of them The testimony left offered now by the prosecution on bank officials and which may also embrace the testimony of experts on the merits of different electrical systems is a interesting up at the circumstantial but of the case on behalf of the prosecution

Heney Leaves Court

Heney was not present during the early morning session today He drove up in his automobile at 9 30 a m but changed his mind about remaining After giving some instructions to Assistant District Attorney O'Gara he returned to his office The jury resumed the questioning of Thomas L Rossetti bank clerk for the Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank He was on stand at close of yesterday's session The witness was shown various deposit checks numbering forty three in all and they were offered in evidence and read into the record

The purpose of the tender was to prove that no amount of currency similar to that which was drawn from the mint by General Thos L Ford had been deposited in the bank

Attorney Stanley Moore on cross examination propounded only a few general queries to Rossetti and after O'Gara had established the fact that neither Ford Mallory nor any other of the company's officials had private accounts in the institution it was excused

Sent For Heney

The defendants counsel thereupon announced that Director Charles Holbrook was in court and he would like to have him interrogated

O'Gara explained that Special Prosecutor Heney who desired to take up that matter was attending to some other business and requested that the witness return at 2 30 o'clock Holbrook however desired to go to Menlo this afternoon and Heney was ordered notified to appear at once

Meantime C B Downing of the Union Trust Company was summoned

He stated that no such amount of currency which had been taken from the mint had been placed in his bank and a transcript and twenty one deposit tags were offered in evidence

The fact was also brought out that Maxwell McNally was the only official of the United Railroads who had a private account in the institution and six of his tags showing deposits for the months of June July August and September were read into the record

Auditor Lamont Called

Attorney Moore had no questions to ask of the witness and he was dismissed and we dare to Robert S Lamont auditor of the Crocker National Bank

His testimony was largely the same as that given by the other bank officials and a number of transcripts and tags were tendered in evidence after being first identified

He was followed by Charles Holbrook who was examined by Heney who had just arrived

The witness was interrogated regarding proposed supplemental police for Market street before the fire as well as several conversations he had with Calhoun in connection with the reconstruction of the Sutter street railroad

It was also called upon to identify photographs of the Market street cable road power house engine and boiler rooms

After the Fire

Holbrook asserted that it was his understanding that the engines had practically been destroyed and that they were covered with debris The prosecution was endeavoring to show that either the machinery nor the boilers had been damaged

The witness was then asked regarding the condition of the conduits after the fire and he declared that he found that the steel rails were badly twisted and warped in places

Attorney Stanley Moore inquired as to the result of Holbrooke's comparison between the two sets and found a round of cheers resulted

He said his investigations and research had mostly been made in his office and proved him that the valley was by far the better and more successful of the two

Counsel went at length into the subject and secured the declaration from the witness that he was of the opinion that the Calhoun system of underground conduits was the best in the city

Holbrook was then excused subject to recall

Burns Arrives

At this point in the proceedings Sam Shortridge Burns who had been absent in Washington for one week came into court quietly and was greeted by one of his associates

He took a seat just back of Heney who took little notice of him at once

The prosecution brought out that in New York and Washington the underground conduit system was in vogue and that successfully operated The witness was unable to state all differences in detail between the two systems He stated however that the overhead trolley system had decided features by which it could not be built and operated here

Heney next took a letter signed by Arthur Holland of the United Railroads addressed to Mr Tarleton Hazelton Fire Warden Electrical Bureau and forwarded to San Francisco

Mr Heney may I ask a question from which I Stanley Moore affirmed that had been read in evidence

Certainly was the reply

Will what do you stand by contract system? I don't know

I'm not sure myself but I think it is the system they have in operation in Monte Carlo

Everyone Laughed

This was so unlikely a joke and Holbrook's connection with fires in Monte Carlo and Nice that everyone laughed

Amid the shouts of Monte Carlo finally noticed Moore and Holbrook pointed out that the contract system was connected with shock absorbers on a rail

Yesterday's Session

SAN FRANCISCO May 11—When the CALHOUN trial got under way yesterday afternoon Archibald Kains bank examiner and Homer Hedden of the United Railroads was called to the stand

The witness testified that no mention of money for the purchase of any supervisorial franchise had been made at any of the directors meetings which he had attended He was excused without cross examination and was followed by Burt Jones and Edward Nelson Jones in the transfers office of the United Railroads to the witness stand Jones was asked to explain what the system of transfers was and it was at this point that objection was made by Attorney Stanley Moore who declared that the question was immaterial and that the court had already passed upon the matter in ruling that the prosecution must confine itself to the charges in the indictments

Heney announced that he had found that William Ivon of the district was not the just Ivon of whom Attorney Stanley Moore had stated that he supposed the prosecution were aware of the fact but Mr Heney was not of that opinion and it was at this point that it would be well to quote Heney's explanatory statement

Mr. Holbrook Called

Louis Holbrook president of Holbrook, Merrill & Stetson wholesale plumbers and timers and a director of the United Railroad was next summoned He was chairman of the board of directors and vice president of the company for some time He testified that he had never heard any discussions regarding the payment of money for the city's permit and asserted that he had never to his knowledge employed as attorneys for the company He was interested in the Ingleside car conduit and overhead trolley system and had decided in favor of the latter He was released to be called again at 2 0 o'clock this morning

CITY COUNCIL PROMPTLY CLOSES NOTORIOUS SALOON

On Chief Wilson's Report That Place Is Rendezvous of Vicious Characters, Le Fort's Resort Is Closed.

With a dispatch that was never equalled before, the Press Saloon at the southwest corner of Eighth and Franklin streets, was summarily closed last night by the City Council. Fifteen minutes afterward a squad of police under the charge of sergeant Wolters descended upon the notorious place, compelled the customers to leave, extinguished the lights and saw that the door was locked.

The cause of the action of the Council, in not even giving the saloonman a hearing, is to be found in a vigorous letter from Chief of Police Wilson, in which he describes the place as the rendezvous of known thieves, a resort of fallen women and the proprietor as morally unfit to conduct a saloon. The Chief further recites that the proprietor, A. J. Le Fort, is under arrest on a felony charge for beating a man over the head with a blackjack after having decoyed the victim by a telephone message to First and Franklin streets, and also that Le Fort is concerned in the case of Charles Mack, alias "Buff Kid," an ex convict, who is alleged to have robbed Mrs. Edith McCrea, of Fruitvale in the saloon of $110 and afterward to have threatened to kidnap her child and also poison her with whisky inoculated with morphine, in an effort to make her drop a grand larceny charge pending against him.

No sooner had the various letters of Chief of Police Wilson been read than half a dozen councilmen were on their feet moving that the license of the resort be revoked

Represented Le Fort

Attorney Philip Walsh attempted the proceedings with a request that the consideration of the matter be set for a hearing at the next meeting of the council committee

'I represent Mr. Le Fort in this matter,' said Walsh, 'and would ask that consideration of the letter of Chief of Police Wilson be in the hands of which he has no personal knowledge. Mr. Le Fort asks an opportunity of disproving the charges contained in the letter. I am satisfied that the fact is not true. Mr. Le Fort is a young man born and raised in this city. This is the first charge that has ever been preferred against him and I think that it is only but fair that the matter be referred to a committee.'

Had Investigated

Councilman Ellsworth—This is a serious matter and the charges are very grave. I have had personal investigation of the matter. This is not the first time that Le Fort has been charged with the same offense. I am prepared to vote and I understand that the license be revoked.

Councilman Coblentz seconded the motion.

Councilman Jones moved that the revocation of the license of the Press Saloon be made effective upon the adoption of the resolution and that the Police Commissioners be instructed to enforce the order. Motion also carried and Captain of Detectives Petersen left the Council Chamber to execute the order. Police Captain Wolters and a squad of police were detailed to enforce the order. Within fifteen minutes thereafter not a light could be seen in the saloon nor a customer within a stone's throw of the place.

Chief's Letter

The letter which caused the summary action is as follows:

'To the City Council, Oakland, California.

'Gentlemen: I herewith protest against the granting of a certain petition for a license to a saloon conducted by Albert Le Fort now at the southwest corner of Eighth and Franklin streets.

'On April 18 A. J. Le Fort proprietor of the above named saloon induced one Henry G. Miller to go to First and Franklin streets by telephoning to him from the Press Saloon at Eighth and Franklin streets. Miller went to First and Franklin streets and there met Le Fort who at once hit Miller over the head with a blackjack, causing wounds that had to be attended to by Dr. George D. Reinle at the Receiving Hospital. On this complaint a warrant was sworn to by Henry G. Miller charging Le Fort with assault with a deadly weapon and the case is now pending in Department Two of the Police Court and Le Fort is out on bail.

'On April 24th 1909 a woman named Mrs. Edith McCrea who lives in Fruitvale went to the Press Saloon and was robbed by Charles Mack, an ex-convict, with the assistance of Joe C. Jones, a petty larceny thief who is now out on bail for petty larceny and who is employed by A. J. Le Fort as a waiter at the Press Saloon.

Try Intimidation

'A warrant of arrest was sworn to by Mrs. McCrea charging Charles Mack with grand larceny and he was arrested and released on bail. After his release Mack and Jones went with one Rader to the home of Mrs. McCrea and tried to induce her to drink liquor that on examination was found to contain morphine and with threats and intimidation tried to make Mrs. McCrea drop the case. Also that said Le Fort rang up Mrs. McCrea over the telephone and threatened to have her child taken away from her if she did not drop the case against Charles Mack. The said Le Fort also went to the Oakland Enquirer and tried to blacken the character of Mrs. Edith McCrea and told revolting stories about the twelve year old daughter of Mrs. McCrea.

'The saloon conducted by Le Fort is a rendezvous of vicious men and women and known thieves and is conducted in violation of section 1 and section 3 of the ordinance governing the liquor licenses in that the said Le Fort is not of good moral character and is conducting his place of business in a disreputable and disorderly manner.

'The undersigned therefore requests your honorable body to revoke the license of said A. J. Le Fort as he is a person unfit to conduct a saloon in the city of Oakland.

'Respectfully yours,
'V. WILSON,
'Chief of Police.'

Enough to Kill

The events leading up to the charges against Le Fort have been given considerable publicity of late. Mrs. McCrea's story that an attempt was made to poison her with whisky doctored with morphine and that threats had been made to kidnap her twelve year old daughter is substantiated by the reports of detectives working on the case. The whisky with which Mrs. McCrea was to have been rendered unconscious at last was analyzed by Miss Eva Perry the city chemist and was found to contain morphine. There was enough of the narcotic in the whisky to have caused death. After the charges made by Mrs. McCrea had been substantiated to the satisfaction of the police officials Captain of Detectives Petersen acted on anonymous letter signed Raffles. Threatening him with death in event he did not cease his investigation of the alleged robbery of Mrs. McCrea, Mack and also the alleged threats to kidnap the twelve year old daughter of Mrs. McCrea.

In the Miller incident with which Le Fort is charged with an assault with a deadly weapon the police say that the victim was knocked first at Franklin streets under the belief he was to receive money around which working as a bartender for the man who assaulted him.

Always Right

To be always in right is a pretty lucky thing. Some one has said there is nothing absolutely perfect. Be that as it may we think we are about as near perfection in the vaudeville amusement line as it is possible to get. We know we've got the right show, our thousands of patrons verify this by their continued weekly attendance.

Another big feature of our bills and one that appeals to every lover of vaudeville is the fact that we present no holdovers. Its an entire new change of faces and acts that greet the regular attendants every week. People appreciate these things and the great popularity of the Bell attests more than printers' ink by far that the Bell is the right show at the right place the right time all the time, and the right price a price at which you can afford to take every member of your family every week. There's no question about its being Oakland's favorite theater.

Founders of American Liberty

Here are the sturdy and brilliant men who laid deep and strong the foundation upon which is built the greatest government the world has ever known.

The corner stone is Liberty. Freedom cements the foundation into an indestructible whole. These great men were thinkers, reasoners and doers. They believed in the physical man as well as the mental and spiritual.

All of these leaders of thought and action understood the value of a temperate use of mild malt beverages and when entertaining friends at their country estates, set before them stimulants brewed at home. All private estates considered the brew house a necessary part of their equipment.

From these early beginnings and the encouragement given the production of malt beverages by the founders of our government, the consumption has gradually grown until the United States consumes 1,821 178 080 gallons a year.

BLUE AND GOLD BEER is the successor of the privately brewed malt beverages of the fathers of our country. It contains health-giving nutritious barley malt, the soothing element, of carefully selected hops combined by scientific process under the most favorable circumstances known to the art of brewing.

As these pictures represent the best America has produced in manhood wisdom, statesmanship, diplomacy, war and peace, so does BLUE and GOLD stand for health, strength, and enjoyment, as a table beverage superior to all others for daily, but temperate, consumption.

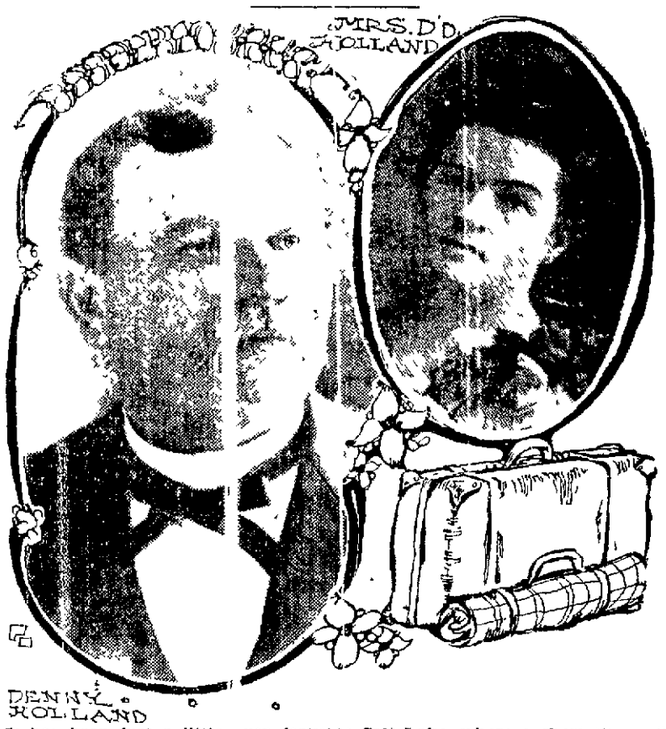
Mr. and Mrs. "Denny" Holland Start For Visit to All the Eastern Cities of Importance



It has been just a little over forty years since honest Denny Holland set foot in Seventh and Broadway in the oak-studded village of Grand Island Nebraska Circling cars of automobiles greeted the new comer but Denny wandered south toward the site where the Court House now stands to get a lunch at one of the leading restaurants

No business graced the muddy thoroughfares now called Broadway and Washington streets but all that the struggling town could boast of were a few stores toward the water front

During those forty years Mr Holland has been a loyal, law abiding citizen interested in civic affairs More than once has been in him the public duties of the day and each time he has filled the office in that capacity with success

As a detective he has shown remarkable ability and to him has been intrusted some of the most complicated cases

The immediate cause of Mr Holland's trip is the fact that he was winner of the trip to New York and return and expenses paid was given in the great popularity contest which THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE conducted in April Mr Holland would have been a danger pedestrian for the automobile had he not been attacked with a malignant fever just two weeks prior to the close of the contest

Accompanying him on this trip will be his estimable wife Mrs Holland and will spend many weeks in Massachusetts The itinerary of this well-known Oakland couple will be from Oakland to Ogden, from Ogden to Salt Lake, where a short time will be given to inspect the wonders of the Mormon stronghold At Denver the visit will be lengthened to several days, as many points of interest lie around this point

Going from Denver to St Louis over the Union Pacific, they will arrive there about May 22 Mrs Holland has planned several trips out of St Louis

MRS. M'CREA IN TERROR AT THREAT OF DEATH

"I Don't Know What Moment Something May Happen," She Cries Pitifully

POLICE HOPE MACK WILL MAKE HIS REAPPEARANCE

"Buff Kid" Has Been Seen Twice on Broadway Since Search For Him Began

Police officialdom is quietly resting on its oars, nursing the fond expectation that on the 14th, Charles Mack, alias the "Buff Kid," will coolly walk into court. Mack has been seen twice on Broadway by persons who know him, since the police have begun their hunt for him.

Mrs. Edith McCrea, the unfortunate victim in the case, lies nearly prostrated in her home at 2735 Persimmon street. Every hour brings to the woman some fresh threat or scare. She said last night that she has not had a night's rest since the trouble began, being afraid to retire for the night.

Woman Not Found

Captain of Detectives Petersen, who received a threatening letter for his activity in the case, has not yet found the mysterious woman whom Mrs. McCrea claims took her to the Press Saloon. Captain Petersen asserts that he has a good idea of the woman's identity. She is said to be a clerk in the crockery department of a local store.

"I am utterly alone and unprotected," said Mrs. McCrea last night. "I am frightened all the time. I don't know what moment something will happen to my daughter or myself. They have defied me, upon the threat of murdering my daughter, to appear in court when the case is called. I don't know what to do," concluded the woman pitifully.

JOHN A. BENSON IS HOME AGAIN

Detective Burns Spends About $400,000 of Government; Acquital Result

"I TOLD ONE TRUTH." YOU HAVE NOT CONVICTED ME. I AM FREE BUT I AM BROKE."

Burns did not reply, but taking his hat he walked from the room.

In the office of his attorney, J. C. Campbell, of Campbell, Metson, Drew, Oatman & McKenzie, who has made the successful fight in his behalf, Benson said:

"I am glad it is over. I feel that, although it has been a very severe test upon me and has ruined me financially, that I ought to be thankful. I have been acquitted of the charges on which Burns secured my original indictment six years ago. I have been vindicated. I will go to work now to recuperate my losses. I am 63 years of age, but feel young and can do it.

Certain of Acquittal

"I never did a wrong act against the government. In all the years I have been fighting the cases against me, I have furnished the government with the documentary evidence it attempted to use against me. I knew when I had an opportunity to properly present my case to a jury I would be cleared of the stain Burns attached to me.

"Another thing made me feel good when the verdict was rendered the courtroom audience broke into a cheer. I did not know I had so many friends in Washington.

"The trial of the cases show what kind of a creature this man Burns is. When I was first arrested it was on the last days of the year 1905, a Thursday night. The following day was New Year. The next two days Saturday and Sunday, which made it impossible for me to get bail from San Francisco to New York before Monday.

Burns took me to the office of Marshal Henkel in New York and told in a commanding voice to that official

As Common Criminal

"The attorney-general and secretary of the interior want this man treated like a common criminal. They want him put in a cell with the other prisoners and no favors shown him."

Marshal Henkel took me to the Ludlow street jail where, in the presence of my attorney, Mr. Campbell, he repeated to Warden Sullivan what had been said by Burns.

"Warden Sullivan gave Henkel a receipt for my body and then returned to Henkel and said:

"This man is my prisoner now. Is he not?"

Henkel replied that I was and then the warden said:

"Well then, sir, I will do with him as I please." This was treated as well as was possible by the warden.

"My defense has cost me about $95,000 in money and about $250,000 in the cancellation of entries and suppression of land script. I am broke and start in the world again as I did at my birth.

"There are many other phases of the case which would take many hours to tell. I may recall more later on."

What Attorney Says

Attorney J. C. Campbell, who has fought all the legal battles for Benson and who returned from Washington a few days in advance of his client, in an interview gave a brief review of the cases. He said:

"During the entire six years the government has been prosecuting Benson on charges, the evidence in which has been supplied by William J. Burns, there has not been a scintilla of legitimate evidence that Benson did not himself give to the prosecution.

"In the first place he produced without suggestion from any one the written contract between himself and F. A. Hyde, with whom he has several times been jointly indicted in connection with the Oregon script which was fraudulent."

Cultured Berkeley Doesn't Appreciate Art, but Likes Ragtime; Professor Armes Has Financial Proof of It

BERKELEY, May 11.—Well, well! After all the talk that has been spread abroad about the culture and appreciation of Berkeley for art, there comes Professor William Dellam Armes, chairman of the musical and dramatic committee of the university with a gavel to be hewn to the contrary.

Armes speaks with the exhibits before him—the balance sheet of the Greek Theater, and the figures indicate that the local public has a weakness only for the recherche when it costs nothing.

When the real thing comes along with black face upper-case type at a dollar a throw the classical taste of the populace undergoes abatement.

They Like Rag Time

He intimates that the public is willing to pay for "rag time" music, but when it comes to something more artistic, financial support is lacking. Professor Armes also has a word to say in behalf of the performers, as he says, the cement seats of the Greek Theater are much less responsive than people.

All this is revealed through the efforts the business men and the Chamber of Commerce have been making for a renewal of the summer band concerts. These entertainments are of popular price and well patronized. Armes has told the Chamber of Commerce that the concerts will probably be given and he incidentally has some little caustic strictures to add. Something for the "home folk to ponder over" as he puts it.

Just Think of It!

After reciting that the Greek Theater is the gift of William R. Hearst and dedicated purely for university purposes, such as charter, class and commencement day exercises and the like, he explains that the university authorities have in a desire to serve the public of Berkeley permitted the big amphitheater to be used for presentation "of all the high class amusements, having in mind the best interests of the community."

Professor Armes says: "Think of what has been given in the Greek Theater since it was dedicated on September 24, 1903—three plays in the original Greek; one play twice given in the original French; a play from the Sanskrit for the first time in America; an old English miracle play; an eighteenth century interlude; an Elizabethan masque; five plays by Shakespeare and one by Jonson; a play by Goldsmith, Rostand's "L'Aiglon"; song recitals by Schumann-Heink, Gadski, and Bispham; band concerts by the Sousa, Ellery, Hawaiian and Third Artillery bands; piano recitals by Rosenthal, Adela Verne, and Myrtle Evelyn; and symphony concerts till the Berkeley public became tired of them and withdrew its support.

Business, Business!

"And then you have recalled Bernhardt, Maud Adams, Nance O'Neill, Constance Crawley, Wm. H. Crane, Norman Hackett and Ben Greet as they have appeared on our stage and Richard Mansfield and Mrs. Fiske as they have addressed our audiences, remember that on every pleasant Sunday afternoon when it is open the University gives the public a free concert of high grade, and you will realize that this department of its work has grown into a business by itself, the work of which is neither light nor easy.

"But it is a business very different from an ordinary one. It was started on no capital; it has paid nothing to those who have managed it; and in the six years that it has been carried on it has yielded no profit. During the last year it has been running on an overdraft which has been made up only with a fortnight, and were it not for Mr. E. M. Smith's generous support of the concerts by the University of California Symphony Orchestra, we would now have a deficit of some two thousand dollars.

Not in Show Business

"This may look like mismanagement, but it isn't. It has never been the University's policy to pay out any of the ordinary funds for these entertainments nor, on the other hand, to make them contribute anything to the support of any other department of its work. It is not in the show business for the purpose of making money. Sometimes when there has been a large crowd in the Theater, I have heard the question, 'What does the University do with all the money it gets for these entertainments?' I have never heard the question asked on Sunday afternoon! Though the performers at the half-hours of music generously give their services, the musical and dramatic committee of the University has to pay out about fifteen dollars for each concert for printing, student help, the inevitables, and anyone who can do a simple sum in multiplication can figure out for himself what the University has done with a good part of the money that has come to it from the entertainments for which an admission fee has been charged.

Pretty Hard Lines

"It much be remembered, moreover, that the attraction that is pretty certain to draw a crowd allows the University but a small share of the proceeds, while one that isn't sure will not pay unless guaranteed an amount that sometimes is decidedly greater than that taken in from the sale of tickets. As a matter of fact, the amount the University received from the two plays by the Greet company just about balances the loss it made on the concerts by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. The public had the opportunity of enjoying five good entertainments, but only one was patronized by any considerable number.

"From the point of view of the University, that's all right; but it's pretty hard lines for the performers, for cement seats are much less responsive than people. From what had been said to us we thought that the public was again hungry for good orchestral music. We know better now, and when a joint concert by Mischa Elman and the Russian Symphony Orchestra was offered to me, I declined it with the word that the University had already lost all that it could afford to in one year providing music of such high grade that it appealed to but few of our community."

IS FREED FROM MARRIAGE BONDS

Arthur L. Chambers Secures Divorce When Wife Ceases to Love Him

Because Irene Laurie Chambers, suddenly and without apparent cause, severed her marital relations with him eight years after he led her to the altar in San Jose in June, 1899, and persisted in living separate from him although residing with her mother under the same roof in Piedmont that sheltered him, Arthur L. Chambers of 624 Walsworth avenue, of the Ransome-Crummey Company, has secured an interlocutory decree of divorce in the Superior Court from his wife.

Mrs. Chambers allowed the suit to go by default and her mother, Mrs. Laura Laurie, who is 80 years of age, appeared as a witness for her son-in-law. His complaint simply alleged desertion and the testimony given before the court commissioner was entirely devoid of sensational matter. On the other hand, Chambers spoke regretfully of the change which had come into the sentiment of his wife towards him. Neither he nor Mrs. Chambers' mother could assign any reason for Mrs. Chambers' desertion of her husband and when it came to the testimony regarding the disposition of their 9-year-old daughter, Elizabeth Remington Chambers, the husband told the court commissioner that he was perfectfully willing that the custody of the child should be awarded to the mother, provided that he had the opportunity of visiting her and taking her out upon all suitable and proper occasions. In this connection he said:

"I think the mother is more capable and better adapted for caring for our daughter than I could be, and I have confidence in her in that way—with reference to the care the child would get. It would be in the best interests of the child in case the court should grant me a decree of divorce that the custody of the child should be given to the mother and in that event I would be perfectly willing to pay my wife $50 a month for the support and maintenance of the little girl."

Chambers' aged mother-in-law said that since January, 1906, although they lived under the same roof with her until the beginning of the divorce proceedings her daughter and Chambers had absolutely no marital relations. Chambers had always been a true and faithful husband so far as she was able to judge, and did not know of an just reason for her daughter's conduct. She thought it was simply a case of incompatibility of temperament that made the couple's married life a failure.

DESIRES TO PAY PENALTY OF SIN

Youth Follows Mother's Advice and Gives Himself Up to Officer

ELMHURST, May 11.—A mother's good influence over her wayward son caused George J. Wilson, a fugitive from the police of Ogklan, who wanted him for breaking into Hoffman's cigar store in Elmhurst, on August 1, last, to give himself up yesterday to Deputy Sheriff Sharkey of Elmhurst.

He now occupies a cell in the county jail in Oakland.

Wilson, according to his own story, robbed the Hoffman cigar store of $15 and a quantity of cigars. He made his getaway, and since then has been living with his mother in Stockton.

Yesterday the youth, who is not over 18 years of age, and repossessing in appearance, met Sharkey in Elmhurst and said, "Well, here I am, take me to jail where I belong."

Curiosity moved the deputy sheriff to ask how he came to give himself up to the clutches of the law, after successfully eluding the police for almost a year.

"It was my mother," said Wilson simply. "She believes I should pay the penalty of my sin, and I believe that too. I have been taught a lesson."

VICTORIA, B. C., May 11.—Chief of Police Langley has received word from the police of Stockton, Cal., that the family of Jerry Oman, living at Stockton, has identified the photograph of an unknown man found drowned at Clover Point, near here, seemingly a suicide, as their father, and asked for an investigation, believing their father to have been murdered. WANT WATER AND GAS PIPES LAID

Official of Public Service Companies to Be Asked About Extending Service

Representatives of the People's Water Company and the Oakland Gas, Light and Heat Company have been summoned to appear before the Public Service Committee of the Council next Thursday and tell what is being done to supply certain districts of the city with water and gas where the service is now defective.

This action was taken as a result of a resolution introduced last week by Councilman Cobbledick, requesting Fire Chief N. A. Ball to inform the City Council as to what steps had been taken to give the district in East Oakland, known as Peralta Heights, adequate fire protection.

Water Scarce

The fire chief replied that while there were plenty of hydrants in the locality, there were not enough mains to supply water.

"Could not we build a cistern at the top of the hill?" queried Cobbledick. "At the present time there is only water enough to supply one engine."

"If I may be permitted to speak," said Councilman Ellsworth, "I can assure this Council that under the reorganization of the People's Water Company, the bankers will immediately canvass the districts where there are no mains and immediately supply them. I am in a position to know that the improvements will be taken up at once and given speedy attention."

Suggests Committee

Chairman Pendleton—I think the best way to handle the matter is to appoint Councilman Broner, chairman of the Public Service Committee, and Councilman Cobbledick a committee to confer with the water company. There are required mains in the north end of the city, as well as in the eastern. The California Cotton mills also require additional fire protection. The company did, however, construct a ten-inch main down second street in accordance with its agreement made before we fixed water rates.

Councilman Everhardt—I would also like to call the attention of the Council to the fact that the north end of the city is also without adequate mains. Furthermore, the gas service is also defective. Take Lawton avenue at Clifton street. Every one residing in the vicinity is an applicant for gas service. The people are entitled to the gas, but the mains are not large enough. A public service corporation is for the benefit of the public and if it cannot supply the people the city should take it upon itself to get the supply.

No Heed to Speech

At this juncture several councilmen, who had been giving no heed to Everhart were sharply rebuked by the councilman from the First ward.

"There are some councilmen," said Everhardt, looking daggers in the direction of Councilmen Oliver Ellsworth and R. C. Voss, "who have not the courtesy to listen to what they are paid to listen to by their constituents."

Chairman Pendleton rapped for order, but Everhardt had already taken his seat in disgust. Ellsworth flared up and shouted:

"I object to those remarks and I do not propose to stand for them."

Oils Down Storm

Councilman Brunner poured oil on the troubled waters by asking a question.

"I would like to ask," he said, "if the corporations can be compelled to supply the people with water and gas?"

Chairman Pendleton—Councilman Everhardt has made a study of this matter and can give you an answer.

Want Gas

Everhardt—There is a statute which makes it a misdemeanor for a public service corporation to refuse to supply an applicant with gas. It is a part of the organic law of the state. There are 40 persons in one block in my ward who are applicants for gas. They are entitled to it and if they do not get it from the corporation they should get it from the city. The people are paying taxes into the city and I, for one, am willing to burden the city treasury, including myself, to see that the people get what they are entitled to.

This brought the discussion to a close. Chairman Pendleton suggested that Manager Leach of the gas company and a representative of the water company be summoned to appear before the committees and explain what the respective corporations propose to do about the matter. Clerk Thompson was instructed to notify the corporation representatives to appear before the Public Service Committee next Thursday night.

High-Heeled Shoes Kill Damage Suit

The Oakland Traction Company is the victor in the damage suit brought against it by P. O. Petersen and Anna Petersen. The case was concluded before Superior Judge Wood, sitting in Judge Wasde's department, this morning. The plaintiff, Mrs. Peterson, asked for $500 damages for a sprained ankle and the loss of money occasioned by her being unable to give the usual music lessons. The testimony seemed to show that the plaintiff had fallen off the car by tripping on her high-heeled shoes while attempting to alight. There was no negligence on the street car company's part, therefore judgment for the defendant.

"HIDDEN CRIME" WINS BROADWAY AUDIENCE

Laughter and tears were intermingled last night in the successful English comedy drama "A Hidden Crime," which was given its introduction to an Oakland audience at the Broadway Theater.

So happy was the close of the play after the deadly plotting and so realistic was the acting throughout by the character actors, as well as by the leads that everyone who attended the performance pronounced it one of the best of its kind that has been seen in Oakland for many weeks.

The play is not the ordinary run of melodramas, but on the contrary, is a classic in comparison. The lines are beautiful strong and scintillating with wit and humor. The characters are powerfully drawn and true to life.

An exceptionally strong company was seen in the production. Every member gave a good account of himself and herself, honors going especially to Priscilla Knowles, Al Hallett, Roy Clement, Hiram R. Sinclair, Jack Bennett and Georgie Woodthorpe. Miss Knowles found her part a most difficult one, taking the part of a blind girl in most of the play, but it is doubtful if her receptions in the past equaled that of last evening. Encores were extended to her on numerous occasions.

The play will be staged every night during the balance of this week and matinees on Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.

MRS. MOORE NOT TO GO ON STAGE

Mother Declares Daughter Is Here to Have Much Needed Rest

fascinating influence the authorities attribute the downfall of former Adjutant General Otis Hamilton, who is in prison at Olympia, Washington, accused of embezzling $50,000 from militia funds, arrived at her mother's home, 315 Rose street, today and applied for police protection from anyone attempting to gain communication with her.

"My daughter will not receive anyone and immediately on her arrival this morning we asked Chief of Police Wilson to maintain a guard around the house which will prevent any intrusion. Hazel has been subjected to a needless amount of unpleasant notoriety in this matter, and we are determined that she is to be permitted to find peace in her own home," said Mrs. Moore, the girl's mother in response to a telephone message from the TRIBUNE office upon her daughter's arrival in this city.

Enters Red Auto

Hazel Moore, or Mrs. Moore, as she prefers to call herself, is accompanied by her eighteen-year-old daughter, who has been in Washington with her during the last few months, though the child was reared in this city. Mother and child arrived on the early train from Portland. Mrs. Moore hastily entered a big red touring car which was in waiting at the depot and was whisked away to her home.

When she alighted from the train, she gave a few short directions to her maid, evidently about the disposal of her luggage, and slipped into the waiting car. She was handsomely, though quietly gowned in an expensive tailored suit of conservative design, and a large hat with a wealth of black plumes.

Resembles Mother

The little girl was simply dressed in a blue box coat and a large straw sailor hat. She bears a rather close resemblance to her mother and is, according to Hazel Moore's statements, the offspring of an early marriage which culminated a few years ago in her husband's death.

The woman who has been a companion to General Hamilton for the last two years, maintaining luxurious apartments at his expense, so declare the Federal officers, asserts that she inherited money from this mysterious husband, and steadfastly denies that Hamilton spent the enormous sums on her which, it is claimed, eventually worked his ruin.

It was learned today that arrangements for the shipment of two pianos and other expensive furnishings from Seattle to this city have been completed.

"My daughter will not see any person, much less a reporter," said the mother of Mrs. Moore to the representative of THE TRIBUNE this morning. "She has nothing to say and more than that, she will say nothing. She is sick and greatly annoyed by the notoriety which she has received during the last few days."

The reporter stated that, in view of the allegations which had been made with respect to the relations which the daughter had borne to General Hamilton in the State of Washington, THE TRIBUNE would gladly publish any statement which the daughter might desire to make for the satisfaction of her relatives and former schoolmates and friends in this vicinity. But the appeal had no effect in changing the purpose of Mrs. Moore to allow nothing from the daughter to reach the public.

Accepts Hint

At one time, when the lady at the door was asked as to what were the facts of the case in Washington, a voice from the interior of the home came floating out saying:

"You don't know," and immediately the lady at the door, taking the hint from the voice within, said: "I don't know."

The reporter then informed the woman at the door that there was a rumor in circulation that her daughter intended going upon the vaudeville stage, and was asked if the rumor were true. On this subject the woman at the door condescended to talk.

Not to go on Stage

"There is not a word of truth in the story. My daughter has no intention of going on the stage. She is not going on the vaudeville stage. I do not know where that rumor started. My daughter needs rest. I do not know what her purpose in the future is to be. She is here now and will take a good rest.

"She needs that rest, and for the purpose of having it for herself and for my family I have telephoned to the chief of police for protection from the people who are calling here day and night and ringing up my telephone during the same time. I am willing to be fair and reasonable and have been so, but I shall stand no more annoyance, and I expect relief from the police."

Thief Decamps With $460 in Jewelry

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11. - Using a pass key which mysteriously disappeared from the home of Mrs. Mary Hoskins, of 901 Stanyan street, a few weeks ago, when a servant was discharged, some unknown person entered the Hoskins residence early this morning and made off with jewelry valued at $460. Among the loot was a diamond ring, a coral necklace, and a gold necklace, attached to which were eighteen chipped diamonds.

Burglars also entered the barber shop of Martin Christianson, at 24 Clay street and after breaking open the cash register, stole $61.

Herman Bohn, a grocer of 1201 Buchanan street, reported to the police that his place had been robbed of a revolver and $10 in cash.

James W. Flannery, president of the California Blanket & Flannel Works, complained to the police that a thief made off with stock valued at $200 from one of his wagons.

Swears to Warrant For Grand Larceny

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11. - Thomas J. Thompson, a manufacturer of gas fixtures, of Oakland, swore to a warrant this morning before Police Judge Deasy, charging Benjamin Brilliant, proprietor of the Hotel Brilliant on Turk street, with grand larceny. Thompson alleges in his complaint that Brilliant has confiscated fixtures valued at $50.

Brilliant, when interviewed relative to the warrant, asserted that the matter should be thrashed out in a civil court and not a criminal court, and that such action would probably be taken after the first hearing of the case before Judge Deasy.

SAUNTER INOT SALOON AND HOLD UP PATRONS

Leisurely Approach Bar and Answer "What'll it be?" With "Hands Up"

SEARCH OF CUSTOMERS YIELDS 25 CENTS

Barkeeper and Till, However, Make Evening's Work Worth Their While

Two unmasked men last night held up and robbed the saloon of Frank McGee, 750 Jefferson street, rifled the pockets of the proprietor and two patrons, and took $25 in gold and $26 in silver from the cash register.

McGee was behind the bar about 11:30 o'clock last night, talking with A. Thompson and D. Hall, both living at 761 Jefferson street, when two men, both of ordinary build, leisurely entered the saloon, talked for a few minutes, as though they were finishing a conversation of a private character which had begun on the outside, and then turned to the bar, as if they intended to order some drinks.

Faces Revolver

McGee stepped from the men whom he was talking, walking down to the two new comers. No sooner had he reached them than he was covered with a revolver, held by one of the robbers, who not only covered McGee, but kept Thompson and Hall under range also.

After rifling the cash register of $51, the robber who was doing the "frisking," went through McGee's pockets and extracted $15 in gold. Thompson was financially all in, and the thieves did not get anything for their trouble in searching him. Hall's pockets rewarded their efforts to the extent of 25 cents.

Backs From Saloon

Still covering the men, the gentleman with the gun began to back out of the place, while his partner went out immediately, undoubtedly to guard duty on the outside.

After their exit McGee rushed to the street with a revolver, but seeing nothing of the men he began firing shots into the air to attract attention. The shooting brought two patrolmen, but by that time there was no telling where the thieves had reached.

BELL SLAPS AN EDITOR IN FACE

Former Congressman Resents Editorial Attack By W. D. Pennycook

VALLEJO May 11—Theodore Bell former congressman exchanged blows with W D Pennycook proprietor of this city and editor of the Chronicle yesterday morning in the postoffice building Nothing in a sensational line has more upset this city than this encounter and the subsequent explanations

The witnesses say that Bell met Pennycook in the postoffice and declined to smoke the editor's extended hand The latter refused to comply with Bell's request for an interview in his private office because of the episode and blows were exchanged Bell slapped Pennycook's face knocking a cigar out of his mouth and the latter hit Bell knocking his glasses off

Offensive Editorial

In explaining the matter later Mr Bell said that an editorial in Pennycook's paper had been called to his attention An extract from it reads as follows

While there exists a strong feeling in favor of Vallejo workmen there is no great love in Vallejo for Napa lawyers The town has been pretty thoroughly milked by them Every piece of ground through which the city's water pipe lies run in Napa county has compelled the city of Vallejo to pay extra money

"And it is only a few days ago that Theodore A Bell the petitioner for the new ferry subsidy of Vallejo as attorney for Mrs Mirandrino and instead of waiting the usual hours of law in order to determine her rights he placed an injunction upon the city of Vallejo and completely stopped the construction of its new reservoir

Blood Money

"In order to enable us to finish our work the City Trustees of Vallejo were compelled to pay $ 000 to Mrs Mirandrino and this they look upon as blood money, extorted from the city of Vallejo by force Bell did not care whether our navy yard was deprived of water and compelled to shut down or not so long as he got his demands and the Trustees are therefore not inclined to have much belief in the professional feelings of love for the Vallejo workingmen

On this account the feeling which existed in favor of the Independent Ferry Company when it was believed that it represented the working men on Mare Island has ceased when it is found that it represents a body of outsiders working for their private gain with the intention of expending their earnings in other communities

The Case of Two Browns.

Judge Mahon of Sutter county, who is sitting as Judge Dunne's understudy in the Brown kidnaping case, was given a taste of the private method of administering justice as it now prevails in San Francisco Patrick J. Healey, a member of the Grand Jury, called him to account in open court for permitting the defendant to stay at the St. Francis Hotel under guard of a Sheriff's deputy while the trial was in progress.

At the request of the District Attorney, Judge Mahon had refused to admit Brown to bail in the sum of $50,000 until the trial is concluded Healey was sitting beside and conversing with Fremont Older, the complaining witness in the case. Getting up and walking to the Judge's desk, he demanded to know by what right his honor had allowed Brown to eat and sleep under guard outside the county jail during the progress of the trial. His voice was pitched so low that his words could not be heard away from the rail, but an inkling of the purport of his language was given when the Judge raised his voice and made this response.

"Do I understand that you threaten me with investigation by the Grand Jury?" he said. "Let me tell you that the orders which I make are not subject to any investigation by the Grand Jury or anybody else. You can tell the Grand Jury that. I permitted Brown to stay at the hotel so that his lawyer could consult with him. He was kept strictly under guard and he paid his own expenses. In no way did the public or the interests of justice suffer. I explain this much to you because you are a member of the Grand Jury. If you were not I would tell you that it is none of your business, and I would tell you so very quickly."

This sounded very valiant, but if Judge Mahon had done his duty he would instantly have committed Healey for contempt of court. However, the effect of Healey's intimidating remarks was seen later in the day when Judge Mahon revoked his order allowing Brown to remain at the St. Francis Hotel till the conclusion of the trial.

Yet the Call, which is assisting Older to prosecute Brown, admits that the defense has proved the following facts:

That the Bulletin published a false, defamatory article against Luther G. Brown.

That the warrant for Older's arrest was properly issued and countersigned by Superior Judge Cook of San Francisco.

That Brown told the constable to take Older before Judge Cook if he desired to be admitted to bail.

That Older made no appeal to Brown while the party was going to Redwood City.

That Older must entertain malice again Brown, as two suits for personal damages are pending against Older on Brown's complaint.

Moreover, an objection made by the Deputy District Attorney, James R. Nourse, city editor of the Bulletin at the time the libel on Brown was published, was not permitted to testify that he had informed Older prior to publication that the defamatory article was false. Older took the stand and admitted that the article was false, and that he subsequently printed a retraction. He did not state, however, that the retraction was printed in such a way as to rather aggravate the original offense instead of setting Brown right.

Now contrast the conduct of District Attorney Langdon's office in the case of Luther Brown with the course it pursued in the case of J. Dalzell Brown, the forger and bank wrecker who robbed 12,500 confiding depositors of several million dollars. The bank wrecker, who is reported to have subscribed to the graft prosecution fund, and is known to have aided in a despicable manner Rudolph Spreckels to gain admission to the Bohemian Club, was treated with distinguished consideration by the District Attorney and his subordinates, who pleaded with Judge Conley for the extreme leniency in passing sentence, making representations which it has since been proved were false. Through the active exertion of the District Attorney Brown was let off with a sentence of eighteen months in prison on a single charge, although he was guilty of a multitude of felonies. But this Brown merely robbed thousands of people; he did not commit the infamous crime of appealing to the law to protect him from malicious defamation at the hands of a notorious newspaper pirate.

But the experience of the two Browns is an instruction and a warning. It shows to the man in the street how much better it is to stand in with the junta now in control of the administration of justice in San Francisco than it is to antagonize and anger those august personages. What a farce it would be under existing conditions to prosecute Fremont Older for libel in San Francisco or sue the Bulletin for any defamatory attack, however false and malignant! Still there is a so-called League of Justice organized to perpetuate this shameful state of affairs.

San Diego's Reform Farce.

It is only about three weeks since San Diego elected a new reform government on the direct primary and Detroit-Galveston commission plan, with the Los Angeles recall idea incorporated. The so-called reform element in the community was jubilant over the result and congratulations were freely exchanged among its members, in which the reform newspapers joined over the result, for their candidates had triumphed.

The new government was elected under an amended charter, which was duly approved by the Legislature. The amendments included the initiative, referendum and recall and provided for personal responsibility on the part of the Councilmen-elect in the matter of departmental management. Each Councilman is the governing head of a department in the municipal organism and is assumed to be qualified for the position to which he is assigned by training and experience. Collectively, they constitute the legislative body, the Mayor presiding and vested with the veto power.

In adopting the amended charter the people of San Diego believed that they were securing an ideal form of government, in which politics and partisanship and the greed for "the loaves and the fishes" would cut no figure, and they elected men whom they thought cherished the same views and would conduct the affairs of the municipality on a strictly civil service plane of merit regardless of party affiliations or any other form of political obligation.

According to the Union and the Sun, these high expectations were shattered at the first two meetings of the Council. At the first meeting a majority of the Council voted themselves to serve the long terms by ballot in violation of the specific provision of the charter that the term of service should be determined by the drawing of lots, and at both sessions proceeded to remove appointive officials who are represented to have enjoyed the confidence of the community through past demonstration of their efficiency and nominated political favorites as their successors. The first act created such an outburst of public indignation that it was promptly rescinded. The second act has been instrumental in starting a movement to put the "recall" feature of the charter into operation.

San Diego's reform government is a remarkable exemplification of the oft repeated fact that so-called reform movements are purely fictitious and that the main purpose is to get control of the government and its emoluments. Once that is attained the punishment of political enemies and the reward of political friends follows and it is justified on the general principle that "to the victors belong the spoils," regardless of the question of fitness to hold the offices at the disposal of those elected to places of municipal authority.

Expose of the Wheat Gamblers.

The indignant outburst of Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson in his denunciation of Patten, the ruler of the Chicago wheat pit, as a robber of those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow, is fully warranted by the methods adopted to bull the market for self gain. Wilson characterizes the boosting of wheat prices on the representation that there was a big shortage in the supply of the old crop to carry the country over until the harvesting of the new crop opened as "the most deliberately planned robbery in the history of the United States," and that its purpose was not to prey upon speculators in "the pit," but to prey upon the poor who must have bread to sustain life. He charges Patten and his confederates with having planned the scheme of robbing the people for several months, if not for more than a year, and the methods adopted to make a success of the plot he thus describes:

"Agents were sent out all over the United States to gather statistics on wheat. They were instructed to get a bad report. They got it. It was published. Speculators have said right along that the wheat crop of the country is poor. It is a lie pure and simple. The reports have been falsified; they have been deliberately falsified."

In carrying out their iniquitous plan the unconscionable Chicago wheat speculators were so far as to challenge the accuracy of the crop reports of the Agricultural Department. Secretary Wilson stands by the Government reports in regard to the wheat harvested last year still in stock. These reports, he declares, with emphasis, "are exactly accurate," adding "I tell you there is plenty of wheat in the United States. There is enough for every one and there is no reason why the price should be so high. Bread prices should not go up. They have gone up merely because some speculators are looking for millions out of the pockets of the people." And as to the coming crop, which Patten and his fellow-conspirators have been manipulating in their July delivery speculations on the basis of reports of a contracted area sown in wheat and prospects of a poor yield, the Secretary of Agriculture says "I do know from information I have gathered that the outlook is excellent." He asserts that the price of wheat should not be any higher now than it was last year and predicts that the Scott bill prohibiting gambling in wheat futures will make a repetition of the Patten deal impossible hereafter, if Congress passes it, as he believes it will. There has been abundant evidence given in the last week or ten days vindicating Secretary Wilson, and any measure which Congress may adopt that will put a stop to gambling in the staff of life will be heartily welcomed by the people at large.

Wealth in California Quartz.

The great wealth of gold which is reposing in the quartz ledges of the State is being demonstrated in a marked manner in the mines now being operated in Nevada and Sierra counties. In the Sixteen-to-One mine which is located near Allegheny, in the last-named county, a chute of wonderful richness has been recently opened in the vein. The latter is being explored by a tunnel following its course and from which it will be later on opened up in workable shape. The chute was struck on April 1, and the tunnel has followed it for a distance of ninety feet without any sign of impoverishment in the contents of the vein. Ten men only are employed, but approximately $400,000 worth of ore has been extracted from the tunnel heading since the chute was encountered. When the chute was first struck it was supposed that it would prove to be only a pocket, but its extension has proved as great a surprise to the owners of the property as it is a source of present and future wealth. No stoping above and no sinking beneath the floor of the tunnel has yet been attempted; but it is estimated that the ore in sight in the roof and in the floor of the tunnel will yield at least $500,000. The development of this one mine furnishes an explaantion of the wonderful richness of the placers in the beds of the streams draining Nevada and Sierra counties which were worked by the Argonauts. Both counties are seamed with gold bearing quartz ledges. Nevada County contains the first gold quartz mine opened in California. It has been worked practically continuously for fifty-seven years, and it is more productive today than it has ever been, while the pay chutes blocked out guarantee without deeper exploration a period of productivity in future corresponding in length to the past life of the mine. In the case of another great producer in the same county, the vein has been followed for nearly a distance of one mile from the outcroppings; and as the lowest point reached is only a vertical depth of about 1650 feet, it may be followed indefinitely. What is more, the ore continues uniformly rich throughout the vein. New sources of wealth are being opened, moreover, in the exploration of other ledges throughout the county, all of which goes to show that California will continue for at least another century to be a steady producer of the precious metal.

It develops that William J. Burns and his three sons, one of them a minor, is drawing pay at the rate of nearly $14,000 a year from the public treasury of San Francisco for doing work, ostensibly, that the Police Department and the Sheriff's office is paid to perform. Yet there is complaint that the police force is too small to afford adequate protection to life and property. The Burns crowd have already drawn over $40,000 of the taxpayers' money, and the principal service they have thus far rendered has been to demonstrate the infamy of the spy system and its futility as an instrument for the maintenance of law and the punishment of crime. But the Spreckels-Phelan Board of Supervisors denied the money asked for by the Court of Juvenile Correction that it might be given to the Burns crowd, several of whom are notorious for the indecency of their lives.

Although the city has not yet come into actual ownership of Mosswood Park, the deed for which is held in escrow by the Bankers' Trust until that financial organization is paid the money it advanced in order to make the purchase, it is in possession and the property will be thrown open to the public next Sunday. Mosswood Park will doubtless prove to be one of the most popular of all of Oakland's public grounds, and, like De Fremery Park, one of its main attractions lies in the fact that it is largely in a wild state of nature.

Former President Roosevelt has already killed three lions and a rhinoceros, yet he refuses to go back to New York and tackle the Tammany tiger. The whole country would rejoice to witness a finish fight between Teddy and the striped terror of Manhattan.

IS TO MARRY UNCLE'S WIDOW

Los Angeles Smart Set Discuss Love Affairs of H. E. Huntington

LOS ANGELES, May 11. — The rushing of a small army of decorators and furnishers to Oak Knoll, H. E. Huntington's palatial new residence, yesterday strengthened a persistent rumor, current at the Jonathan Club, that the engagement of the railway magnate to his uncle's widow, Mrs. C. P. Huntington, will be announced immediately upon his return to Los Angeles, May 28.

The information regarding Huntington's marriage is said to have been conveyed in a letter to his attorney, William Dunn of Los Angeles, last week. Attorney Dunn refused to make any statement regarding the matter today as did Huntington's son, Howard Huntington.

Announced Soon

A dispatch from New York today declared that the engagement had become known and would be formally announced next week. The improvements which suddenly are being rushed at Oak Knoll will make it one of the most magnificent country places in America. The head gardener turned in a bill last week for $32,000 for shrubs and plants purchased in the landscape gardening improvements. More than $700,000 has been spent already for tapestries and $25,000 was paid for a single picture.

The formal announcement of Huntington's retirement from the presidency of the Pacific electric company probably will be made next month, according to intimate friends in Los Angeles.

Mrs. C. P. Huntington was Mrs. A. B. Yarington of Alabama. She was many years the junior of the old railroad magnate, and the marriage on July 12, 1884, was a surprise even to immediate friends of the couple.

When the dessert was served he sneered and said: "I am pleased to see that the Englishmen are now taking a leaf out of the Persian book." "How so, Prince Kamil?" said the host's wife—a very tall, lean woman with unusually long teeth. "They leave all their pretty women at home," said the Prince, frankly.

FATHER GETS SON WITH AFFINITY

Pursues Pair in Auto and Takes Young Eckelson Back to Home

SAN JOSE May 11 Mrs Irene Eckelson home in Los Angeles received the shock of her life yesterday when a message was delivered to her stating that her son Ralph Eckelson twenty years of age was the principal witness in an elopement case which had been filed in this city Eckelson who had been living with a married woman in this city was located in this city Sunday where he had been living with a married woman in company with a young woman with whom he professes to be madly in love

Early on Monday morning the couple left with his father for Los Angeles Sunday night leaving the woman in the case who is said to be Mrs Crystal Myers a divorcee in San Jose speaking the sentiments which she and the young man had held in this week as husband and wife

Young Eckelson left Los Angeles about two months ago but a day after his father he was leaving the vacation He had previously made application for a bookkeeper's position in his father's office

It now appears that the woman who was with him in San Jose accompanied him from Los Angeles and they were known wherever they stopped as Mr and Mrs Hartman

Work as Teamster

Eckelson was well supplied with money when he and Mrs Myers arrived in San Jose and for a time the couple lived in regal splendor at a fashionable hotel Funds finally ran low and Eckelson was obliged to go to work as a teamster

The couple removed from the sumptuous hotel apartment to the home of Mrs Charles Williams at 168 Santa Clara avenue where they rented two rooms for light housekeeping Even this step in economy had been taken Eckelson's income was insufficient to meet their needs and the young man in desperation last week wrote to his father asking for financial assistance

Father Finds Son

The elder Eckelson at once wired Police Department Commissioner Mitchell of the local department to locate his son and his wife He took the next train for San Jose arriving here Sunday morning But young Eckelson and his companion were not to be found

Mouse Sets Whole Crowd In an Uproar

NEW YORK, May 11 - One stray scared little mouse almost broke up the dress rehearsal of 'The Echo' the New York University show at the Berkeley Theatre yesterday afternoon and created wild excitement among half a score of young women. The young women with as many young men composed the audience at the rehearsal of the musical comedy which is to be given by the University Dramatic Society for three nights.

Everything was going nicely and Jack Scanlon who plays a millionaire soap manufacturer was singing a song telling what nervous wreck he was when the mouse flitted across the stage. Several New York University chicks playing the parts of chorus girls forgot their lady-like manners, their costumes, the song and the audience when the mouse appeared and picking up their skirts chased the intruder.

The house dashed to and fro pursued by cast and chorus while Miss Stramers, who is coaching the show, and Deems Taylor who wrote the play waved their arms and shouted for the collegians to stop the ticket. The theater was in an uproar.

Meanwhile the young women in the audience knowing intuitively that a mouse was abroad had gathered their skirts about them and mounted the orchestra chairs. There they remained awaiting developments before venturing.

Finally the terrified little animal ran over the footlights and was out of the theater before any one had presence of mind enough to scream.

It was an hour or more later the students were able to stop joking and finish the rehearsal. The last of the young women left the theater promptly.

Suffragists Want Man to Take Negative View of Their Desires

The Saturday Club in St. Paul, Minn., is trying to bring a debate on the question of woman suffrage. Ambrose Tighe a prominent attorney has volunteered to take the affirmative. The difficulty in securing some one to oppose him is thus stated by Mrs. E. W. Williams the club's president.

We are weary and sick at heart trying to find one prominent man in St. Paul who will take the negative in the debate. If there's on such man in St. Paul—just one man who will uphold the contention that the suffrage is not for women—won't he please address me at my office, 521 Germania Life Building.

Husband Says She's Too Fat; She Gets Divorce

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 11.—Mrs. Amanda Fernster of this city applied for a divorce today because her husband does not like her owing to the fact that she is so fat.

She declares in her petition that her husband did not want to take her to places but took other women. Once when she desired to go to a banquet he told her she could go if she walked behind him and a woman whom he admired.

He said he was ashamed of her because she was so fat. She went to the banquet as he directed but there he ignored her and his attentions to other women made her decision upon a divorce.

Said Dress Made Yankee Girls Immoral; to Wed One

NEW YORK. The man who made himself famous by declaring that American women were immoral because they were over dressed is about to be married. His fiance heard him propound his theories and fell in love with him. He looked at her and reciprocated. Now the wedding day is set for June 5.

Arthur George Lomerton Collen an English lecturer is the man. The girl who met his approval and whom he has chosen for a wife and helpmeet in his crusade for right is Miss Helen Bancroft granddaughter of George Lincoln the historian and daughter of Samuel Lothrop Lincoln well known merchant of Cambridge, Mass.

Mr. Collen who is the son of Lieutenant General Sir Edward Collen arrived in this city a few weeks ago and has been giving a series of lectures on Artistic Morality. It was there shortly after his sensational statement that pretty American women were too many for him that he met Miss Bancroft.

The vision of Mr. Collen fell on Miss Lincoln's shoulder as she attentively listened to the lecture of seven and color scheme in dress. Then it was that he decided that he must go out finding. But it was not long after that they were seen together in the Waldorf-Astoria dining room and it was whispered that it was now even an automobile and then to follow with first thrust and parry.

The whisper was right. Hand in hand on Monday afternoon the two chums chuck-chuck up in front of Miss Silverthorne's home and the trip to Lakewood was begun. What was left on the trip of the rest of Lent Harding and Miss Silverthorne between the return they stopped at the home of the Rev. Dr. McAllister. There he was with the task finished. The work of the minister with the new Harding had locked up to follow Lent Harding Williams who is now in charge until the latter's best man while the bridegroom Edward Hamilton was the witness.

Honeymoon on Jersey Coast

Lieut. Harding and his wife spent the honeymoon at Seabright. They contemplate an extension of it in a cottage somewhere on the Jersey coast as soon as they can pack up the belongings in their present home at 63 East Thirtieth street.

Lieut. Harding was a member of many clubs in New York but resigned from all after his marriage though he retains membership in the Sons of the American Revolution the Society of Colonial Wars and the society of the War of 1812. Lieut. Harding's father is understood left a comfortable fortune to the young man.

The Man Who Bought Her Clothes

I marveled at the things she wore—
They staggered me completely
She'd gowns and hats and gems galore,
It must have cost a mint or more
To see that women through a store
I marveled at the things she wore—
Wore and wore so neatly!

I saw the man who bought her clothes
And gazed upon him wildly
Thin and threadbare sad and pale,
Apologetic little male,
He followed in the comet's trail
While she cleaned up the diamond sale
I saw the man who bought her clothes—
Bought and bought so mildly!

I marveled at the things she wore,
Her bite seemed milk and honey
Until I found he was a count
Who'd wed her for a large amount—
I saw the man who bought her clothes—
And bought them with her money!

Cupid's Cure Closed Tit-For-Tat Nursing

MISS AGNES P. SILVERTHORNE

NEW YORK. Lieut. J. Harding Harding formerly of the Twelfth Infantry and Miss Agnes P. Silverthorne niece of Lieut. United States Senator Elihu Root, a bevy of maids and matrons, courtship with slows low and fast, its ways in which Cupid arranges the details of his subjects. When Lieut. Harding's father Philip W. Harding a member of the Stock Exchange since 1872 died on Lieut. Harding suffered a nervous collapse and was confined to his cot in the Hotel Seymour. Dr. William Smith of Elmira Hospital attended him and the man nurse.

Out of her care Lieut. Harding when the nurse quit. I wouldn't have you around. Your drugs make me lazy.'

Dr. Smith realized his patient must be humored and suited so he sent for Miss Silverthorne who was living with her aunt Mrs. Irvin J. Barrett at 104 Orton street Newark N. J. Miss Silverthorne arrived. Lieut. Harding did not cry 'Get out!' Under her care he recovered rapidly and as he convalesced he grew interested in his quiet nurse. Interest deepened into affection and finally he could not bear to have her away.

She Succumbed to Strain

One day the nurse failed to appear. He fretted and fumed and finally telephoned. He learned she had given way to the strain of nursing him and was ill in her room in Newark. As he was all alone that he to go out finding Lieut. Newark.

My turn now to play nurse and I was told the patient said he'll want Lieut. after that. I was with Lieut. when I left. He is now even an automobile and this to follow with first thrust and parry.

The whisper was right. Hand in hand on Monday afternoon the two chums chuck-chuck up in front of Miss Silverthorne's home and the trip to Lakewood was begun. What was left on the trip of the rest of Lent Harding and Miss Silverthorne between the return they stopped at the home of the Rev. Dr. McAllister. There he was with the task finished. Won Husband By Her Playing On the Piano

NEW YORK, May 11.—Attracted to her by the way she played Chaminade's The Flatterer at a studio party eighteen months ago Charles Johnson Post of No. 83 Madison avenue explorer artist and writer sought the acquaintance of Miss Alice Hitty Kraft daughter of Julius Kraft of No. 10 West One Hundred and Seventh street. Bunion Betrays Maid Who Is Not a Cinderella

NEW YORK, May 11 - Vanity which would try to squeeze a No. 6 foot with a bunion extension into a No. 3 pink slipper was the undoing of Ada Rayner a colored aid employed by Miss Helen S. Dickinson a teacher of No. 282 Broadway.

Miss Belle Burdon of Wisconsin is Miss Dickinson's guest. Miss Burdon put $152 in bills in one of her pink slippers and put the slipper in a clothes basket in her room for safe keeping. A hundred dollar bill was on the outside of small bills and she saw the yellow back every night in the return from the theater or some fashionable restaurant such as they don't have in Wisconsin. But yesterday she found all the smaller bills had been removed and the hundred dollar bill was left without a roll of the paper. Police headquarters sent Detectives Cook and Kelly to the house.

Cook found on Miss Dickinson's bed the slipper with the $100 bill in it. Miss Dickinson's right foot was not quite so large as the shrewd Ada's but the slipper would shut when she used her toes.

Sometime today the light of the fallen Cinderella Bunion Lover may be lighted to help play the third scene. Then she will take down the hair and produce them but only those in the West Side court the night was held by Magistrate Corrigan in $1,000 bail.

Girl Is Brutally Beaten Until Unconscious

MRS. BOYLE SMILES AT PRISON MEAL

Kidnaper Enjoys First Breakfast as Long Term Prisoner

HUSBAND'S TALE OF REEBLE'S DEATH DOUBTED

Authorities Are Not Even to Investigate Story Told By Convict

PITTSBURG, May 11. — After the exciting and harrowing incidents of yesterday Mrs. James Boyle had a good night's rest in the women penitentiary and awoke fresh and refreshed. She is hungry a bit and is regaining much of her old time vivacity.

But early at the penitentiary last night when she retired for nothing and she was given only a night dress while all her clothes and ornaments were taken from her. She awoke this morning and put on the dress in her cell.

Enjoys Breakfast

Matron Caroline Wolfe with other prisoners Mrs. Boyle dined she went to her cell at first and heartily. She was very much disturbed by the return to prison life and that fines work for her. Other matters were promised her.

Boyle will be examined today after a physical examination of what character of work she will be given. Probably she will be put to work in the kitchen or in the sewing room.

Boyle slept well last night also. He ate a hearty breakfast and submitted gracefully to the barber who cropped his hair. Body Bertillon photos this and an instrument of the part will be made today.

Doubt Boyle's Story

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 11. — Unless strong evidence is forthcoming to show that there is a connection between the death of Daniel Reeble, for which Conrad Lee Boyle is held, and the kidnaping of Dorothea Reeble, no effort will be made by the local authorities to investigate the story told by Boyle, attorneys in connection with the kidnaping, today. Such was the statement made by Boyle's attorneys when asked if anything would be done to investigate the story told by Boyle.

Authorities believe that if the investigation told by Boyle's attorneys in connection with the kidnaping story was found to be true they could learn nothing by an inquiry.

At the time of Reeble's death Boyle was employed in a plumbing shop adjoining the building from which Reeble fell. The police assert the opinion that Boyle told much about the death. In this shop and from his knowledge of the accident built his story.

Refutes Boyle's Tale

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, May 11. — James Boyle's story of the death of Daniel Reeble, for which crime Lee fourteen years ago received retribution today when George Ballinger, who was near the scene of the accident when Reeble met his death, related his version of the case.

Ballinger says he was standing a short distance away when Reeble fell. With Michael Donnelly, a policeman, he walked to the spot and the two men picked up Reeble who was unconscious.

Ballinger was not only in the vicinity until Donnelly came on the scene.

Hotel for an office during the convention and has had cards of invitation printed and published for distribution among the thousands of delegates who will be in attendance.

The local aerie considers that Carpenter has a good chance to win. The office of grand chaplain is in line with that of president of the order.

Angel Child, While Not Engaged in Hanging Himself, Rips Up Cell And Screams Till Jail Trembles

The police have in their possession a youngster of about twelve years, who gives the name of Frank Reed and who is giving them more trouble than all the rest of the residents of the city jail combined.

Sunday morning Policeman O'Riley found the boy hanging around the Southern Pacific station at Sixth and Brush streets and took him into custody. The boy had his own ideas of how a officer of the law should go about the matter of performing his duties and invited O'Riley to step inside of the baggage room and fight out the question of whether or not he should accompany the officer to the city jail.

The result was that Frank had a ride in the city automobile to the jail where he has made night hideous and day more hideous for all connected with the city hall by an exhibition of his wonderful lung power.

Destructive Lad

Everything that is breakable or capable of being torn up Frank has come in contact with since he was confined with first night's evening, tired of his confinement and having nothing left in his cell to amuse himself with, Frank attempted to hang himself by twisting the chain of the toilet around his neck and drawing his feet off the floor. He was found in time and gently but firmly withdrawn from his chosen position and placed in another cell which did not contain such inviting toys.

Suspiciously Quiet

He had been there but a few minutes when the jailer began to suspect him of more mischief by the noise that he was so quiet, and upon investigation of this cause it found the boy suspended from the toilet by his necktie. Upon the boy was released and suffered no serious consequences.

Jailer while engaged in separating and securing a razor to rip up the floor of the cell, Frank has found time to tell no less than a dozen different tales with regard to his age etc.

Frank No Wanted

The police wished to get rid of Frank in Alameda county where the law says he belongs, and received this reply from the superintendent in charge:

"The boy escaped from here; don't want him. Let him work his way back."

In the meantime the jailer will try to put up with the young rascal until something is done for him. He gives his name differently each time the question is put to him, but he is probably not over eleven or twelve years.

FINE FIREWORKS AT IDORA PARK

Initial Performance of the Carnival at Naples Is Success

The big open air amphitheater at Idora Park which has been specially constructed for the purpose was filled last night with an enormous audience which applauded the initial performance of Pain's Carnival at Naples and Eruption of Vesuvius. For more than two hours the throng was entertained with a grand pyrotechnic display, exceptional vaudeville and wonderful carnival tunes such as can only be produced by the band and orchestra which is said to be the greatest of its kind in the world of amusement.

By 8 o'clock the hour for the opening scene the mammoth audience was filled with spectators. Then the lights dimmed and picturesque presentation of Naples with Mount Vesuvius towering in the background. The scene opens upon a fete day and the streets are filled with gayly dressed citizens, dancers, peasants, soldiers and merry makers of every description. Even royalty is not wanting to complete the list. Victor Emanuel III and his queen, being among the Imperial guests. Then follows the grand display of fireworks ever attempted in this city.

Gay Processions

The spectators witness gay processions, a battle of flowers and the picturesque fete of the burning Carthage. Then this those of the carnival as well as the attractions are treated to exceptional vaudeville acts. Marie and Tom Wiz, known as the greatest Irish wire artists in the world, perform wonderful feats in midair. All of their work is unusual, the feature in which they don the costume of an old peasant woman and ascend a rope in the guise of this lumbering beast of burden is the delightful nature of the turn. A dozen other performers contribute during the progress of the fete scene.

While the merry making goes on fireworks become realistic. Smoke is seen to be oozing from the top of the mountain. Then there is a terrific roar and masses of molten lave shoot into the air, pour down the mountainside, causing the frightened people in its deadly embrace. Earthquakes demolish the buildings of the city, fall into the sea and the Capuan is caught in the ruins. This is followed by a fine setting of the market place in Naples, the kaleidoscopic scene and Naples is lost to the eye in complete darkness.

All This Week

The Pain spectacle will remain at Idora Park every night this week, with the exception of the Friday's performances, changed each evening. Tonight a portrait of W. P. Dwight will be shown in the calcium. The special topics will be put in from time to time, the moving picture showing twelve distinct transformations. Like the fireworks monkey who will perform on the tuning fork, eighth sunwheel, one hundred feet in circumference, and fifty Chinese umbrella rockets. The program will be terminated by the release of the hundred rockets and shells. In addition to the Pain products, Idora Park will offer a high class vaudeville program including Prof. Clow's band and the many special exhibits.

CANDIDATES CRACK SLATE OF TENNIS CLUB MACHINE BY STAYING IN THE RACE

M'CLURE HOLDS SCALP ON WITH BOTH HANDS

Turner Flirts With Bosses But Finds He's Not Their Affinity

J. O. DAVIS SHOWS SURPRISING STRENGTH

Mrs. Elinor Carlisle's Friends Prepare For Big Rally in Her Behalf

BERKELEY May 11—Cards are coming off for the second stage of the campaign for new officials under the charter. The Tennis Club and the direction of Earl I. Webb the new politic l boss is busy repairing some cracks in its slate and the promoters of it are holding strenuous hemlock conferences nightly. Webb is not finding things as he would like the first blush of the promotion here falls into through the people of his ward. Democratic opposition lawyer Loveless of Hodghead to the mayoralty is springing some of the Lincoln-Roosevelt boom on the brahmins who believe it is that should be given the nearest thing to row. But with Webb and Hodghead behind the curtain acting the stage, they are doing complete to do supremum they work at it is pretty awful, the signs that are heard.

Do Some Juggling

Webb is doing some very accomplished juggling for himself. J. O. Turner heard somewhere that C. L. Norton the South Berkeley banker is to be asked to withdraw and the Tennis Club strength, itself in such a way conducive Norton was the choice of the committee for the commissionerships and carried a "Good Government" endorsement at Turner thought he saw a fine opportunity to put him with the machine ticket but the machine was obdurate. It can't promise assurance sort that, can't it, so to speak, and Turner was not sure that he could deliver. Then it suddenly occurred to him that he might find the endorsement of a Democratic machine a handy pin in Republican cuff he could quit parties. Now let him be in the race to stay, he does not intend to take the spirit of the chase by doing dark lantern politics.

After McClure's Scalp

The machine wants the scalp of Town Engineer Wilson P. McClure who was high man in the commission slate column. McClure's strength is such that it dare not openly oppose it. But he learned today that a letter was being prepared friendly to Turner and assisting the construction of the new municipal wharf and recommending the expenditure of the bond issue.

"I want to say that I am willing to thresh it out with Turner on my own stronghold," said McClure. "The construction of the wharf was promised and I will make a public statement in favor of the project at any time and place.

McClure's friends are fault not at this latest attack. His backers are assured in spite of the trend of opposition of the Tennis machine and this is what worries the bosses. They know that they cannot centre him that he will refuse to run on the Democratic ticket if they do not openly oppose him.

Another man the machine would eliminate from the fight is Irene O. Davis the attorney and president of the Illinois Society. David although a comparative stranger surprised the town by nosing into the high court getting it is true, the low line but he being such well-known and strong card to as E. P. Nicholas and Adam Kline. If Illinois Club agents have requested Davis to withdraw. They are afraid that he might develop support his strength in the second ward when a son of Chief Peters. Davis refused to get out stamply. "I told them that I would stay in the fight," said Davis. "I am opposed to any state or machine politics. I want this an open field for all the right men who are entitled to run and am opposed to anyone attempting to dictate to the voters. So, therefore, just say through THE TRIBUNE that I am going to stick."

Temperance Fighter

Davis' showing in the first fight promises possible interesting developments in the second. He was formerly assistant on the prohibition ticket to attorney-general in Texas and will be well backed by the temperance and church people from this time forth. His open antipathy to the Webb-Hodghead machine is making him many friends.

To give him a Webb support would mean that either Chris Hoff or F. B. Norton must get the double cross. Hoff it is known does not care the snap of his finger for election either way. He was endorsed by the machine without his knowledge after the manner of McClure and made no effort at campaigning. As he managed to get second place, following close to McClure in popularity, it will be seen was capital to the hopes of Webb and Hodghead. Norton is to make the race, his friends say, irrespective of any move on the part of the machine and will have a strong support.

Mendenhall to Stick

Jesse M. Mendenhall will stay in the race he says. He is to make the fight independent of faction or clique and solely on the strength of his qualifications for the position he seeks.

R. V. Bell may join Tennis Club endorsement. He is a Democrat, but very popular among business men and is said to be willing to let those Democrats who want to work for Hodghead do so. The manager of the campaign and was most surprised when the Tennis Club slate was printed to find his name on it.

If J. Barton will again pull the labor vote that low strength he will be in the open field is a matter of conjecture.

Lively School Fight

The fight for the school board promises to be just colorful without the job is worth but $15 a month. There are three seats to be filled at the election and three candidates. The candidates are opposed to make a card and dog fight out of it with little regard for the platform program. Mrs. Ellen Cornish is determined to keep her name on the ballot and the campaign committee headed by Mr. Frank [illegible] Sedgwick has all in the mass meeting at Native Hall for the night of 22nd day May 22. All other candidates will be invited to speak.

HARRIMAN'S FACE IS HARD TO PAINT

Artist Keith Is Having Much Difficulty in Finishing His Work

FAR TOO BUSY A MAN TO GET AHOLD OF

Compelled to Work From Photograph of Napoleon of Finance

BERKELEY May 11. More than ever as he grows old does E. H. Harriman the railway king show human [illegible] Harriman of "Captains and unlovely traits" who used to be the terror of the newspaper reporter and railway division superintendent seems to have been only an agate made to order suit all for purposes of the traffic manager convenience and the controller of 6000 miles of railways is really like his fellow men.

He has so far offended as to have his picture taken painted rather and William Keith R. A. dean of California artists has been engaged for the task. Keith has the work well under way but as the railway man is in New York and the artist in Berkeley there have been some complications. Harriman gave the sitting when he was on the coast some month ago at his Crater Lake lodge in Oregon while Keith journeyed in Yosemite Valley. Harriman is of the aristocratic [illegible] and is such an busy man that it is difficult to compel him to give an ordinary photograph to add certain detail in lieu of the face of the owner.

Such a Busy Man

"Mr. Harriman is such a busy man that it is almost impossible for him to find time to sit," said Keith. "I can only work on the parts if for a few minutes at a time. Then his business affairs interfere and I have to put it off. I do not like to be interrupted more unsatisfactory piece of work.

The photograph which is in the same pose I am using, in oil painting the face an old time portrait, several sittings more will be necessary before I will pronounce the picture finished and paint it to leave my hands.

A Napoleonic Head

Mr. Harriman's head is a long, decided head with [illegible] but strong to study and paint. It has a Napoleonic head and one can understand from it why he is known as the Napoleon of finance. I have heard Mr. Harriman will be able to spare the time for another sitting, but that is nothing more than to do on the portrait.

WOULD REGULATE THE HOWL OF ALL ALAMEDA CANINES

ALAMEDA May 11.—Justice Pippan is going to have introduced an ordinance which will get on the sly and tone with which fogs may back out loud in this city. Justice Pippan is in fact very much annoyed for there is hardly a day passes but what one cat or dog or chicken case comes before him, caused by neighborhood rows.

Mrs. Daniel at 1365 Regent street has reported that her fox canine next door to her home that has been howling for the last three days much longer than a little dog has a right to howl. She says that the neighbors have put away and locked them and left in the cellar. Result runs howl that disturb the peace of the neighborhood.

EX-MAYOR FILES GRAVE CHARGES

Declares Reinstated Poundmaster He Once Deposed Not Legally in Office

ALAMEDA May 11. Former Mayor T. K. Irwin stabbed the hornet's nest of political hatred against Alameda's present incumbent of this city when he reinstated Ely the City Council some weeks ago. These charges which it is said will not be printable being composed mostly of dashes, stars and other subtle inferences will be heard Friday night by the Council which will meet in committee session.

The history of the pound case is interesting inasmuch as it is the first of its kind that has occurred in this city. Mayor Irwin said:

"Alameda is certainly without a poundman and every resident will have a dog, I keep up Ewing and his position has a right to prefer a charge of that nature against me. The city charter says that the Mayor of Alameda has authority to suspend city officials and I deposed Ewing, knowing that I had this right. But one of the councilmen circulated a petition to reinstate the poundman and he was given his position as poundman. My appointment to fourth Mayor's poundman was not ordinance. The Council but the fact that Mayor has not confirmed did not reinstate the former poundman.

"The act of the Council in reinstating the poundman was a gross usurpation and Ewing will not be able to collect any salary for the time that he was removed since he received no dismissal. If the city auditor pass his salary he will be within the law.

In Alameda Society

ALAMEDA May 11. The members of the Alphian Club listened to one of the most popular given by the club at the usual meeting, Saturday afternoon at Adelphian Hall. The music was rendered by the soprano Miss Elvira Merle and Miss Blanche Tuck, pianist. Miss Tuck also rendered a very pleasing number. The leader Mrs. John Nicholet gave some excellent readings from short stories plays. The feature of the day was by William Roleff talk on Shakespeare. He gave a very brief resume of the plays Shakespeare, that first Shakespeare held the boards in front of the theatre, then took color parts to color and soon began to write many splendid productions. Shakespeare had a wife, but little is said we know practically nothing of his home life and what we know from his work that he was unhappy about mother and sister-in-law. It is also known that he was a psychologist the world has ever known and he had a thorough knowledge of human character. He had a better and clearer insight into human nature than anybody else.

Shakespeare is the greatest literary man that ever lived. His plays have a subscription in Latin and Germany in Scott but Scotch never reached standing of Shakespeare.

Rev. Linden spoke briefly of the women of Shakespeare and dwelt at some length on his dramas. He said in part: "The Merchant of Venice" teaches "Do unto others as you would be done by." Macbeth all plays a great ambition. Othello's jealousy. "Romeo and Juliet" is a wonderful romance. King Lear is a lesson in filial obedience and Timon of Athens plays pessimist. The last named is a play that few people read and yet it is one of the most interesting. Rolfe's want us to give the plot of the play clearly and concisely and he then spoke of each character.

In conclusion he read a part of Robert Ingersoll's address on Shakespeare in which he compares the poet to an eagle of intellect. This is a wonderful picture and was a fitting close to the interesting lecture.

The social hour was most enjoyable. Mrs. Arthur Gleason was hostess for the day and she was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Frederick Sawyer, Mrs. Edward Wiseman, Mrs. Henry Rosenthal, Mrs. A. H. Cogswell and Mrs. George W. Emmons.

PLUMBER WILL MAKE TEST OF LAW

Ordinance Preventing Non-Residents From Taking Contracts to Be Taken to Court

POORMAN DECLARES HE WILL GO ON WITH WORK

Arrest Likely and Sanitary Inspector Maillot Predicts Conviction Will Result

ALAMEDA May 11.—T. G. Poorman of Oakland has notified Sanitary Inspector J. T. Maillot that he will test the new plumbing ordinance recently passed by the city council which prevents plumbers who have not offices in this city doing business here.

The fight which Poorman proposes to make will probably take place in the near future as he has a contract for work on three new houses in this city. He said today that he would go ahead with them and to test the ordinance.

As property owners in the past have employed Joseph plumbers the only means proposed to do away with this and to protect home patronage under the regulations of the new ordinance Poorman will be taken into custody if he violates the provisions of the same and he has said that he intends to discard the law for the purpose of testing its legality a war will be waged in the courts.

May Rent Office

Although Poorman could probably rent a small office in this city for some but price Sanitary Inspector Maillot says that this step would do the Oakland plumber no good and that even if he did another provision of the ordinance would prohibit him from taking contracts in this city.

"If Poorman wants to test the ordinance," says Maillot, "we will make it easy for him to do so but he will not be successful. The ordinance has been drawn up after careful research and study and by our officials and it is legal from every standpoint."

Poorman has taken the contracts for three new houses near Webster street and says he will complete the plumbing work in them. As Poorman's bond is void as a plumber's expired on May 5 he will have to renew his license and the new ordinance.

GODDESS OF LIBERTY VOTE COUNT BRINGS OUT SERIOUS CHARGES

EDITH BROWN.

MALCOLM CAMPBELL.

UNFAIRNESS IS CHARGED BY VOTERS

750 Ballots Put in Box But Only 300 of Them Are Counted

MANY ARE PICKED UP ON FLOOR OF CHAMBER

Judge Is Accused of Grave Errors and Change Is Demanded

ALAMEDA May 11.—A storm of protest has arisen over the manner in which the votes for the Goddess of Liberty contest have been counted and returns made and published in the local papers. It is insinuated that grave errors have been committed by one of the judges.

While there has been a quiet objection current for some time on the street by those who are supporting various candidates the storm did not break until last night when Jay W. Martin entered a protest to a local newspaper office and strenuously urged that the counting of the votes by a single judge of the three composing the board of judges be forthwith discontinued.

Martin cited an instance that occurred last Saturday. He said:

There's Something Wrong

"While I do not charge this judge outright but the result of the count shows that there is something wrong in the way the votes have been counted. In one instance 750 votes were placed in a ballot box at Kirkham and when the count was turned for publication there showed but 300 credited to this particular candidate. I for one protest against this manner of doing business and in behalf of those interested I ask that no single judge shall be allowed to extract the ballot from the boxes except in the presence of one other of the board."

John Muscovey who is supporting a candidate rag chew with four others, who have made a pool is highly indignant over the returns published. He says:

"We placed a large number of votes in a ballot box and when we saw the published returns there were several hundred short. We have been watching the count and in the presence of all five the votes were counted prior to placing them in the box. The next day the count showed a shortage in the hundreds. I protest against this removal of the ballots be one man who has nothing to say except that all the ballots in the box were counted correctly. Now, we know that the ballots we placed in that box were not given in the returns published in the paper."

Ballots on Floor

The ballots are supposed to be counted at the Chamber of Commerce, and a citizen who does not care to have his name mentioned is authority for the statement that he found 200 ballots on the floor of the chamber and he picked them up and placed them in the ballot box.

Joe Kirkham whose place of business one of the ballot boxes is stationed, says that the box must be removed from his store unless more than one judge is present when the ballots are removed.

A hot fight is promised but as the judge in question has his business at San Francisco it has been impossible to reach him to allow him to give his side of the argument.

The judges are A. G. Burns, Hugh Gallagher and F. J. Holtz.

TAKE A SUNSHINE TABLET FOR THY STOMACH'S SAKE

A Woman in Maine Calls Mi-o-na the Sunshine Prescription

There never was such a marvelous prescription for stomach distress and indigestion as Mi-o-na.

No doctor ever wrote a better one. It's doubtful if any doctor ever will. It's so good that druggists say money back if it doesn't cure.

A woman in Maine calls Mi-o-na the sunshine prescription because she has seen so many sour, miserable, gas-belching dyspeptics turned into happy, cheerful sweet human beings in a few days by taking Mi-o-na.

The stomach is responsible for three-fourth of the nervousness and half the misery in the world. A woman can have a first-class stomach and yet be miserable if she has a husband who is a nervous dyspeptic.

But why not change pain to pleasure misery to happiness dull eyes to brighter ones? Why not bring cheerfulness into the home not only for yourself but for those who love you?

If you have indigestion, belching of gas, heaviness after eating, drowsy sensation after eating, sour stomach or any miserable stomach disturbance the prescription called Mi-o-na will put you right, and bring sunshine into your life in a week.

A large box of Mi-o-na tablets costs only 50 cents at leading druggists everywhere. They are small and easy to swallow.

"I was next to death's door. The doctor said he had done all he could, that my stomach was old and worn out. I was so weak I could not walk. I took Mi-o-na tablets and have been eating hearty ever since, and I am able to work like a tiger."—Mrs. Nelson Lucier, 112 Fisk Street, Athol, Mass.

SANTA ROSA May 11—With twelve speedy stock chassis struggling for supremacy in the 19 mile road race over the Santa Rosa Healdsburg Geyserville and Dry Creek course Ben Noonan of Santa Rosa in his Stoddard Dayton carried off the honors Saturday morning C Ontank in a Stevens-Duryea finished second Fred J Wiseman in a Stoddard-Dayton third Fay Sheers in an Acme fourth Frank Murray in a Buick fifth and L B Ely sixth

Although some of the best drivers on the coast were competing in the race two Santa Rosa men succeeded in finishing first and third The race was essentially a triumph for Rose City drivers Noonan the victor in the nerve racking race had never before participated in a race but like Wiseman had the advantage of knowing the course almost perfectly He aptly remarked after the race that he could have taken a sandwich on any of the difficult turns

Noonan made the course in 1 05 18 which is considered exceptionally fast time in view of the condition of the roads With the cars started a minute apart Noonan fought his way from tenth position at the start to third at the finish His elapsed time was less than that of Wiseman and Sheets who preceded him however and so to him was awarded the $500 trophy Ontank by taking second place won the Moore Motor Supply Company's $150 silver cup

Skill and daring marked the driving of all the racers The course which is extremely hazardous in places was negotiated by the men without a single person being injured The cars themselves however were not so fortunate only 6 of the 12 being able to complete the race Noonan's was the only car to cover the course without a mishap all the others having tire or mechanical trouble as a result of the trying roads The trouble eliminated the Thomas Forty the Speedwell the Comet the Stearns driven by D A Bonney and the Packard The Stearns driven by Charles Soules had to quit twenty one miles from the finish as a result in a break in a patched frame

Sheets displayed wonderful nerve by going the last third of the distance without the front left tire He pluckily kept up his speed despite the fact that he was running on the rim and finished with a great burst of speed When he brought his car to a stop it was discovered that the rim was badly shattered and the wheel on the verge of collapsing This game driver finished in fourth position but he took the life of himself and mechanician in his hands by going so far on a rim

Ontank also did nervy work on the curves He came near meeting with disaster on the loop when he ripped two posts out of a small bridge He succeeded in getting his car back into the road however and completed the course in second position

Large crowds were gathered at the starting and finishing line at the edge of the city at the dangerous turns where there was the most likelihood of a spill and on the streets of the towns through which the course lay On several of the turns such as the one at Mark West school the machines did sensational skidding sending clouds of dust into the sky but the drivers skillfully avoided losing control The greatest test of ability was on the loop where the roads were narrow and the turns treacherous In several instances the cars jumped from the road to the grass or grazed the inner embankments

Diamond Men Celebrate

The populus members of the Diamond Rubber Company had a great jollification on automobile row last night when the racing cars returned to the city The fact that Diamond tires were on the cars that won the first and second prizes in the road race was the occasion of their joy The fact that these cars brought home their tires was the excuse for their celebration

Pioneer Notes

In the military run held in connection with the recent New York automobile carnival the machine gun of the Ninth Regiment was mounted in the tonneau of a four-cylinder Oldsmobile The run was made during a heavy storm of sleet and rain The Oldsmobile carried the full gun crew besides the field gun itself The gun was fired without any apparent injury to the machine from the recoil The rapidity with which the evolutions which accompany gun drill were made astonished the soldiers who were accustomed to using horses for the purpose

* * *

Three Japanese officers of the Asama who were so well entertained by friends that they forgot the passing hours hurried into the salesroom of the Pioneer Automobile Company yesterday and demanding that they only had fifteen minutes in which to make their ship asked for the fastest car in the place They were accommodated with a Thomas Flyer and by a burst of speed not within the limits of the law the machine had the officers at the dock with time to spare

* * *

As a sample of the kinds of road that the Thomas Flyer in its capacity as official pathfinder to the New York to Seattle race is encountering, in one spot just outside of Cedarville Idaho the car was so deeply buried that only the seats were in sight Lunches running boards and everything projecting beyond the body were ripped off as the car plunged through the drifts Not a single adjustment has yet been made on the William machine Any delay was met with when the car plunged against a wall of the drift but the crew repaired the damage without requiring any help

* * *

P C Theiler of Malden has just broken all records for a trip in his home city from Main St to Snake Pond a distance of sixty miles over mountain roads through the Cascades and twenty miles of desert The ornate record of the run is one hour fifty two minutes and stood for some time In a letter to F P Bishop president of the Pioneer Automobile Company telling of his feat Mr Theiler said While I know it was a pretty fast trip I did especially well as the roads were in fine condition and I would like to see someone beat that time which I am sure I can shave on the twenty eight minutes without letting the machine out to its capacity

DUKE D'ABRUZZI TRIES SUICIDE

Watchfulness of Member of Suite Prevents Nobleman From Killing Himself

ROME, May 11.—Court circles here are greatly agitated over highly sensational reports which have reached the government about the Duke of Abruzzi. It is now related circumstantially and on excellent authority that in one of the fits of intense depression to which the Duke has become subject of late he attempted to kill himself with a revolver on the way out to India, but his suicidal intention was frustrated by the vigilance of a member of his suite, whose suspicions had been aroused by his despondent demeanor and who has kept a vigilant watch on him.

Letters received from members of the expedition, especially those from the Italian and Swiss guides, represent that the Duke is utterly reckless. The writers express fear that the whole expedition may perish if the Duke persists in carrying out his present plans, which he formed in spite of the best native advice.

These stories are arousing considerable sympathy for the Duke even in quarters where his marriage project was bitterly opposed. They have also excited a feeling against the queen mother and the Duke and Duchess of Aosta who, it is known now, were the real obstacles to the success of the Duke's love affair with Senator Elkins' daughter Katherine.

FORGETS FIANCE ON WAY TO WED

Finds New Love on Trip to Hawaii and Jilts Expectant Lover

HONOLULU, May 11.—The moonlight nights when the Alameda ran through the tropic seas on her way to this port last week and the opportunities for Dan Cupid afforded by a sea voyage proved too much for Mrs. Eva B. Wallace of San Francisco, a passenger, who was coming here to become the bride of Charles Howard, also of San Francisco.

Among the passengers was R. M. Baker, of Chicago, an automobile agent. The two met, promenaded, watched the water and decided that a voyage through life together would be the logical sequence to the voyage to Honolulu.

When the groom to be dashed up the gangplank to greet his expected bride, he was not met with the reception that he had hoped. However, he escorted Mrs. Wallace to her hotel, leaving her there, while he rushed out to conclude arrangements for the ceremony. Baker stepped in, carried her away to a church and, when the old love arrived with the license, Mrs. Wallace was Mrs. Baker.

The couple will stay in Honolulu until the next liner for the Orient where they will spend a part of their honeymoon.

BELASCO TO BUILD NEW SAN FRANCISCO THEATER

NEW YORK, May 11.— After six weeks spent in New York, Fred Belasco, brother of David Belasco, the playwright, and manager of the Alcazar Theater of San Francisco, is leaving for the latter city to build a new playhouse.

Belasco's stay in New York was lengthened by his wait for E. C. Steinman, the Sacramento banker. It was Steinman who went down in his pocket after the fire which cindered San Francisco in 1906, and extended financial aid to Belasco that enabled him to plan for the building of the Alcazar while the ruins of the city were still smoking.

Steinman, it develops, is also backing Belasco in his new propects, which will divide his time between San Francisco and New York.

The new San Francisco theater will be known as the Belasco. It will be established in the rebuilt and busy downtown district of the city.

The ostensible plans of Belasco are to maintain a sort of productive affinity between the theaters in New York and San Francisco, the latter city coming in for the ventures that win the prestige of success in the East.

PREACHES TO WORKMEN; NOW FACES CHURCH TRIAL

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 11.—Charges of transgressing the law of the Church of England have been performed against Rev. H. Herbert Hanson, canon of Westminster and rector of St. Margaret's Church, and he has left Yale after giving a series of religious lectures, and started back to England to stand trial.

The charges, brought by Right Rev. Dr. Gore, bishop of Birmingham, state that Canon Hanson, in opposition to the rules of the Church of England, occupied the pulpit at a workingmen's institute in Birmingham, against the protest of the clergy of the diocese.

—Twenty years record to point to—would we sacrifice it for a few dollars?

—Put yourself in our place! —Suppose that for 20 years you had been building up a reputation in your business for fair dealing; suppose you had sacrificed time, health and temporary profit in developing and personally looking after the details.

—Suppose that the result had been that you succeeded in your efforts and established a business known for its character, it principles and its fair dealings.

—Suppose it was a business absolutely dependent upon such a reputation, and there came along customers who trusted you to tell them honestly whether or not to buy your merchandise.

—Would you tell them the truth?

—Could you afford to do anything else?

—Would you, from a purely mercenary standpoint, destroy that reputation for the sake of a sale?

—That is our position. You are safe with us because our reputation stands back of every transaction. We have treated people fairly for over 20 years and for no temporary gains will we allow the destruction of such a record or of our standing as opticians.

BURNS SOLD STOCK TO WILLIAMS MONTHS AGO

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—Colonel Dan Burns, who returned from Nevada yesterday, said in an interview at the St. Francis Hote that he had disposed of his interest in the New California Jockey Club to Thomas H. Williams, president of the club, and was no longer connected with it in any way.

"I sold my quarter interest in the club to Mr. Williams a month ago, before I went to Nevada," said Colonel Burns.

Later in the evening Williams confirmed this statement, saying Burns had not been connected with the club for more than a month.

BIG RUNNERS IN RELIANCE CONTEST

Clowdis to Try for Record in 10-Mile Handicap

Owing to the popularity of long distance races the Reliance Athletic Club has decided to hold another around-the-lake meet next Sunday morning at 11:30 o'clock. This meet will consist of two races, a four mile scratch and a ten mile handicap. In the first event the Reliance Club will enter its undefeated four miler, A. C. Wieben who will probably have to extend himself to the limit to beat the classy field that has been entered against him. Some of the best runners around the bay district have signified their willingness to participate.

The ten mile handicap will be a great contest. Last Sunday's affair at Ingleside brought out some hidden talent and many of the dark horses will come in the limelight again next Sunday. No one is making the showing that P. J. Clowdis of the Reliance is. His improvement within the last two months is nothing short of phenomenal. Though a beginner he seems to possess all the qualities of a coming star. He has already shown himself to be the peer of the middle and long distance speed burners of the bay cities and last Sunday made the best time of any in the ten mile run. Several have already made him offers to enter professionalism.

As the Sunday race is to definitely establish the ten mile championship of the bay cities great interest is attached to the affair. A large entry list has already been received from the various contending clubs.

The prizes for the winners consist of elegant trophies and medals.

All registered A. A. U. men on the coast are eligible in the ten mile event. Names must be sent in to the Reliance Club before Saturday night.

To Allow Betting, Not Books, Says Belmont

NEW YORK, May 11.—August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club and probably the most influential man in horse racing in America, declared last night that when the Belmont Park opens on Thursday it will be possible for persons to visit the track and back their opinions orally, without fear of being molested, and that they will receive ample protection from the racing associations. He said that the recent anti-betting legislation applied only to bookmaking, in which a record is maintained.

"There will be betting on a small scale," Mr. Belmont said, "for the excellent reason that there is no law that prevents it; but there will be no bookmaking or any violation of the present law."

'BAT' NELSON SUFFERS FIRST KNOCKOUT AT THE VALENCIA

Issues Ultimatum to Packey McFarland

By EDDIE SMITH.

"LADIES and gentlemen, you will notice that I am now wearing the old stars and stripes around my waist tonight, as has been the custom in all my fights, and in explanation I will say that I just could not come here tonight and go down and take the count with the old red, white and blue on—there's my colors for tonight hanging in the corner."

Such were the concluding remarks of a short speech made by Battling Nelson, champion lightweight of the world, just before going on with a boxing bout in which he had to take the count for the first time in his life. And low and behold, when the audience turned from the Battler and looked to the corner to which he was pointing, there, in all its blazoned glory, was stretched the flag of old England.

The play in which he is appearing all this week at the Valencia Theater is an English affair with all the lords and ladies and dukes and snobs necessary for such plays, and this may have been the Battler's reason for choosing the English colors, although it does not take a very long stretch of the memory to recollect that the Dane offered humiliation to the English people by offering to beat all of their lightweights in one night and without leaving the ring.

Did Not Like to Go Out

Anyhow, the Battler refused to take the count in the American colors and made a great hit with the boys in the gallery for his patriotism. Did the Battler take his knock out gracefully? Well, I should say not. He insisted on staying up as long as possible and those most interested in the show were afraid the Durable Dane would stick to his feet so long that Paul McAllister, the leading man and hero of the play, who did the boxing stunt with the champion, would become too tired to last the limit out.

"Hit me one good one," persisted the Battler in mumblings between his set teeth, but which could be heard all over the stage, and he did stick on his feet for a long time waiting for that one good wallop with which he would go through the motions of a knock down and poor McAllister was each minute becoming more and more tired and his punches weaker and weaker, and yet the champion insisted on that uppercut.

Referee Jack Grace, who is the play referee for the week, did the charitable thing about this time by whispering to the champion to please go down. Once the Battler went down and Grace, graceful and dignified, started to count Oscar Battling Nelson out for the first time in a long career of the gloves.

Nelson Takes the Count

McAllister stood over the fallen fighter and appeared anxious, while the seconds rolled by. The Dane's hatred for a quitter and his pride got the better of him at the count of six and up he jumped, much to the surprise of Grace, the pleasure of the public and discomfort of McAllister. Then came another minute of boxing, in which the fighter begged for the one good wallop and the last tiring actor did his best to shove it over. At last, with a supreme effort, the actor landed on the champion's neck with force enough to make believe a knockout and the lightweight champion rolled on the floor while Grace counted off the seconds. At one time it looked as if the Battler was going to get up again and the hero of the play, who stood over the fallen fighter, almost fainted and Jack Grace very accommodatingly hurried the count and the Battler was the loser before he realized it. The Battler took that knockout about as gracefully as a school boy would take a dose of castor oil and after it was all over he said the he hoped he would never have to take a knockout in a real battle.

Ultimatum to McFarland

In the speech he made before going on with the boxing stunt nothing new was brought out, with the exception that he would expect Packey McFarland to agree to fight him on September 9, at 133 pounds, four hours before the battle and that he must now make a side bet of $5000 and he would have until Saturday night to accept and if by that time he had not come to terms, then the weight would forever be fixed at 133 pounds at the ring side for him or any other fighter after the lightweight title. Nelson has made up his mind that it will not pay him to take McFarland on in July and he will not listen to argument. He has figured that he will be out many thousands of dollars by such arrangements and he has been assured a chance at Cyclone Thompson in Denver in July. If the game opens there, he feels a little independent.

Mazuma's Chief Argument

There are many reasons for the champion's action in the McFarland matter besides the personal enmity that exists between them, but the chief one is the money issue, and the Dane says himself that he feels he is duty bound to act according to his own dictations regarding the making of matches. Nelson and Coffroth will meet today and then they will decide what is to be done in the matter of future matches for the championship.

In the meantime Nelson admitted it was no cinch that he would beat Hyland on the 29th, and that until such time as that contest will be decided there is little use of going too far into details for the future. Beginning with today the champion will start to work for his battle with the Brass Valley lad. He will do road work in the morning and a little gymnasium work in the afternoons. At the expiration of his week at the Valencia he will go to Millett's and there put on the finishing touches to his training.

Winner May Meet Ketchel

An added inducement has been made to Hugo Kelly and Billy Papke in their contest of forty-five rounds Saturday afternoon, and it is an inducement that has more that set the fighters on their best mettle. With Coffroth in the air as to what he will do for his 4th of July match and with Ketchel asking that he be matched with any one that the promoter can secure, the winner of the coming bout will have a royal chance to cop the young lion on the national holiday. Ketchel is anxious to fight and has been showering the promoter with telegrams to that effect and the winner of the coming bout looks good to the Britt-Ketchel combination.

If the contest between Papke and Kelly should result in being a rapid-fire affair, then a return match between the winner and Ketchel would be a big card and with the contest of their life so cast to grab, the fight of Saturday is going to be a hard fought one, in which the victor will have to do some awful hustling.

Jeffries to Fight Johnson

It has been reported that Billy Delaney is losing interest in Al Kaufman, simply because he is allowing the big Californian to go to England with Bill Brady. This is not so, and the reasons for Delaney's actions are that his health will not permit such a long trip and the necessary hardships. Delaney thinks as much of Ketchel as he ever did, but he is laying low and allowing things to shape up before making a move. If people think Billy has lost faith in Kaufman let some one offer the big white man a match with Jack Johnson.

Jim Jeffries has announced that he will enter the ring and fight the colored champion after five months of training after he has concluded his theatrical engagement, which will be in July. Good boy Jeff, we are wanting you to start all right, but don't keep us waiting any longer than you have to. Mr. Johnson is ready—or at least says so, and you will be the one man we will have to depend on if the big black beats Ketchel.

SHEEHAN IS IN LEAD WITH INVADERS

Townsend and Pfyl Head Regulars in League

At the present time Cy Townsend of Santa Cruz heads the batting list in the California State League. His record for ten games is .421. Of those who have played with the outlaws since the opening of the season Pfyl of Stockton stands ahead with .382 to his credit. Happy Smith of San Jose and Danny Shay of Stockton trailing in the not far distant rear, .320 and .316 hanging on to their bats. Some of the Oakland stickers have not yet attained their last year's gait. In the fifteen games Bloomfield has played in he has found the ball safely for a .388 percentage. Henderson's average reads .297 for twenty-three contests, and Burns .333 in seventeen games.

Sheehan comes first of the regulars, .282 in thirty-two games played. Meskiman second, .265 in thirty games. McHale averages .256 in thirty-two games. Nealon is still clinging around the .241 mark and Campbell cavorts around the .221 position. McCune seems anchored at .214 and J. Smith has been sticking at an even 200.

Bloomfield's Great Record

Bloomfield has made so far an enviable record in the box, losing only one game out of eight pitched. The same achievement is accorded to Loucks of Stockton. Oscar Jones gives promise of returning to his old-time form, for in eleven games he has won nine of them. Meskiman has won four and lost two, while Henderson has been a little out of luck, often losing an exhibition by one point. His average reads five victories and six defeats. Strickett of San Jose, and formerly the Brooklyn star slab artist, has fallen way back this year. He has lost three out of four.

PRINCIPALS BEHIND MOVE FOR ATHLETICS IN SCHOOLS

Offer Aid in Encouraging Healthy Exercise

The principals of the Oakland School Department have adopted by-laws governing public school athletics. The education of the child heretofore has been principally a mental development little attention being given to that most important physical need. Schoolmen are beginning to see that a strong mind in a weak body will not stand up long under the strenuous life of today, nor can the strong body succeed in life without the strong developed mind. The beginning of a systematic control of athletic games, out-door athletics and especially the development of that phase of growth which makes the children want to run, jump and play, will be a matter of greatest concern to the betterment of our boys and girls and will eventuate in better citizenship.

To this end the Public School Athletic League has been formed. Its specific object is to promote useful athletics and gymnastics among the attendants in the public schools of the city of Oakland, and in connection therewith, to co-operate with and support public school athletic associations, organize games, offer prizes, conduct competitions, and encourage through organized effort all manner of healthful out-door exercises.

Membership

All public school boys and girls shall be recognized as athletic members. There have no fee to pay.

Other members shall consist of annual life and honorary members, and co-operations. Annual members pay upon being elected by the board of directors of the league, one dollar as membership fee, the fee covering the dues for that calendar year.

Life members pay $25 in one sum. Patrons pay $100 in one sum. Honorary officers and members may be elected.

Candidates shall be elected by a majority vote of the board of directors after written application, accompanied by the fee, has been made.

Each candidate elected shall be notified and shall receive a certificate of election signed by the president and secretary of the league.

The dues of annual members shall be one dollar and shall be payable the first Thursday in December of each year in advance.

Membership confers no individual ownership in the property of the league.

Officers of League

The annual meeting of the league for the election of its officers, for reports of the work done and for such other matters as may properly come before it, shall be held on the first Thursday in December of each year.

The officers of the league shall consist of a president, vice-president, secretary and four directors, who shall have the control and management of the affairs and funds of the league. No salary shall be paid to any member of the board of directors except the secretary, who shall receive a salary to be fixed by the board.

The following officers and directors were elected to serve till the first Thursday in December, 1909.

President, F. F. Chandler, 68 Twelfth street, vice-president, Dr. H. L. Deitz; secretary, C. E. Hudspeth, 781 Fifty-ninth street, directors—P. S. Wheeler, G. H. Pfund, 1954 Webster street, R. J. Graham, F. T. Roch.

Help the Boys and Girls

Secretary Huspeth has the following to say about the league:

"It is necessary that the play of the children of this city be directed properly. This will take a certain amount of money, which it is hoped will be subscribed by citizens interested in the welfare of building better characters in our boys and girls.

"The child without a playground is father to the man without a job. We need playgrounds properly equipped and properly directed, and to have this for our children we need the co-operation by encouraging the legalized play ground is impossible. Hundreds of our children play upon the streets, which in itself is against the city ordinances and the worst kind of training that can be given the boy. Many games cannot be played upon the street without danger of interfering with passers-by or neighbors, and hence, the city owes the boy and girl playgrounds.

Must Be Directed Play

"The city owes the children not only the playground, but there must be directed play. An act prohibited by any law, political or social, will go to another prohibited act unless directed to change the display of his energy to a good act. We need, as a city, also, to establish the right activities in children before the wrong one is asserted. This is an object of the playground committee, and hand in hand with this session, and hand in hand with this influence upon the child out of the school, the Public School Athletic League will co-operate by a more systematic direction of play within the schools.

"The first work outlined by this league will be to hold contest between the grammar grade classes of all the city schools.

"School athletics, a form of athletics in which every boy and girl, physically fit, will take part. It is not so much how fast children can run, but how far they can run, but it is to get them to want to run.

Co-Operation Is Needed

"Help the children in this most important play work and surely you will be greatly rewarded by seeing a general condition for better citizenship.

"Cut out this application and mail it to the address given after filling spaces you desire. We want your membership."

BEALL SWATS LEATHER AT GREAT CLIP

Gets 18 Hits Out of 29 Times Up; House Is Second

By his great hitting in the past week's series of games, Outfielder Beall, who came to Los Angeles obtained from the Chicago White Sox, has assumed the leadership in the batting averages of the Coast League. Beall obtained not less than two hits in every game last week, his total for the series being eighteen out of twenty-nine times up, or an average of .620 for the seven games. His average for the season to date is .445. Of course, it is not to be expected that he will continue to swat at that high figure, but he is undoubtedly some hitter.

Brashaer of Vernon, who has been leading the league, has dropped below the .300 mark now, having obtained only five hits in twenty-six times up in the past week's series against Oakland, or an average of less than .200 for the week. House, the Indian outfielder of Sacramento, is now ahead of Brashear with an average of .301.

The following tabulation shows the batting averages of all the players of the Coast League who have participated in at least five full games and have hit .250 or better:

AMATEUR BASEBALL GAMES

Livermore Victor In Pitchers' Battle

LIVERMORE, May 11.—There was a most enjoyable excursion of about four hundred people of this city to Modesto Sunday, which afforded the excursionists an outing which was appreciated to the extreme. For some time past there has been a great desire on the part of the local baseball club to cross bats with the players of the southern city, and the trip refer ed to enabled both organizations to come together, with the result that Livermore won after one of the prettiest games of the season, the score being only 1 to 0. It was a battle between the pitchers; Spark, the Livermorman, distinguishing himself, although there was a strong wind prevailing during the greater part of the game. The contest was witnessed by a large number of spectators from both cities and, at times, the enthusiasm was intense because both nines had earnest and confident backers. The score and other features of interest are as follows:

Silva Boxes Andrews at Portola Club Tonight

Tony Silva fights across the bay tonight with George Andrews before the new Portola Club, which makes its bow at 2353 Mission street. Much interest has been awakened in Oakland fans and quite a delegation will take the trip. The management of the new club will start their show early and keep it in motion, assuring the fans from this side an early feast.

A good card of amateur fights has been arranged, topped with four battles of main-event interest. Silva meets a tough man in George. The latter nearly put the crusher on Morris Sweeney at a recent exhibition. Lou Rushing, who beat Al Kreiger, the heavyweight phenom, in a punch, will clash with M. Monohon. This will be a fight for blood.

Eddie Marron and Louis Hahn are also on the card. Hahn holds a decision over Marron, but the closeness of their last fight left plenty of room for another argument. Campi and Burke, the bantams, will fight for the title. Johnny Arron and E. McShane, two shifty 115 pounders, will swap punches. Con Crowley, known on the other side of the bay as the terror of the car barns, meets one Pete Brown. There are several other fights on the card that makes the trip over worth while.

New Record Madeon Turf

OGDEN, May 11.—In the second race here yesterday Sevenful, the winner, covered the four and a half furlongs in 54 3-5 seconds, establishing a new world's record for a half-mile track.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 11.—Managers of the local course are enthused over the success of the pari-mutuel machines the last week. By many it is regarded as sealing the doom of bookmakers, so far as this course is concerned. More than $500,000 was handled in the mutuels last week here.

Blanchard Best Marksman

The official monthly shoot of the Oakland Gun Club is as follows:

Blanchard 46, Blake 30, Bangle 35, Spangler 29, Miller 26, Adams 38, H. MAXWELLS BEAT SAN RAFAEL.

The Maxwells went to San Rafael Sunday and defeated the locals, 11 to 4. Peterson, who pitched for the Maxwells, let his opponents down with three hits, while twelve were made off of Welsh of San Rafael. The features of the game were the hitting of Ingram and the fielding of Merritt.

Mesmer-Smiths Win From Navy Champs

The fans surely got a run for their money Sunday at Grove Park just after the league game when Mesmer & Smith defeated the champions of the navy, the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, by the score of 4 to 1.

The features of the game were the umpiring of Kid Dooley, the great baseball rooter, the pitching of Goldstein of the Mesmer & Smiths, who struck out fifteen men and allowed but two hits and walked one, and the playing of Jake Baumgarten, who caught a swell game.

There were three fast double plays made, one by Goldstein to Baumgarten to Lynch and two by Crotor to Lynch to Herkanham.

The game was played in one hour and twenty-five minutes. About 2500 fans of the game between the Oaklands and San Jose stayed over to root for the jacks of the navy and also for the Mesmer Smiths.

The Mesmer-Smiths have won the last four games played and would like to hear from Stanford, Modesto and Byron or any fast amateur team. Address J. Crotor, Bercovich Cigar Co., corner Eleventh and Washington.

Pacific Parlor Is Victor

At Santa Rosa Sunday Pacific Parlor defeated Santa Rosa in an exciting game by a score of 7 to 5. The up-country boys played a fine fielding game, but could do nothing with Soroco's deceptive shoots, while Pacific's players landed on Schmidt for seven hits in the last two innings. Santa Rosa scored three in the fourth inning on one hit and a combination of costly errors, and gathered one each in the sixth and seventh. In the fourth Pacific scored one on a hit, two steals by Noonan and an error. With the score five to one against them, Pacific came up in the eighth and scored three on hits by Fraser, Reardon and Cereghino and a sacrifice by Soroco. In the first of the ninth, with two down, the same players again singled, making a total of four hits and three runs. Santa Rosa could not score in their half. The score:

Offers Young Corbett $5000 To Fight Britt

NEW YORK, May 11.—Young Corbett has received a telegram from Promoter Coffroth offering him a $5000 purse for a twenty-five-round bout with Jimmy Britt some time in the near future. Britt is in Europe at present, but is expected to sail for home as soon as he receives Coffroth's offer. The proposed fight will be at Colma, Cal.

Corbett and Harry Scroggs will fight fifteen rounds at Baltimore tonight and a rather argument is expected. If he wins this battle Corbett says he will be ready to take on Lench Cross at 133 to 135 pounds. Cross has shown no desire for a fight with Corbett, but the experts agree that much depends on the outcome of tonight's encounter at Baltimore.

Wright Belted He Would Lose Cue Tourney

A recent letter from "Chick" Wright states that the reason his game with Conklin had been played in such slow time was that Conklin used such acts that he was compelled in self defense to go back at him. Beating Conklin at his own game is going some.

"Chick" also lost $50 by betting even money he would lose the tourney. He thinks things run by contraries evidently.

The big stunt of welcome when he returns will surprise him, as preparations for a big time are practically completed.

TOPPER ALLEGES HIS WIFE IS BIGAMIST

Husband in Cross-Complaint Says Helpmate Has Another Husband Living

STATES SPOUSE DRINKS AND FIGHTS TO EXCESS

After Two Years of Strenuous Married Life, Husband Would Again Be Single

Answering the complaint filed in the Superior Court by Jean C. Topper for a divorce Thomas J. Topper in his bills wife of the crime of bigamy and alleges as another ground for a legal separation from her that she is habitual drunkard

With reference to the felony charge he prefers Topper alleges that Mrs Topper in March 1902 married one John B. Dunard in San Francisco from whom she is not yet divorced In spite of this marriage two years later she went through the ceremony that Topper alleges has since illegally bound him to her He says that up to the time of the divorce proceedings brought against him he was totally ignorant of the existence of a lawful husband and not while he thinks this sufficient ground upon which he be able to secure the annulment of his marriage vows he prefers to cite instances of Mrs Topper's alleged cruelties to him while they lived together to "clinch" his cross complaint

Woman Can Fight

According to Topper His alleged bigamist helpmate is a scrapper as well as a scratcher of no mean ability One day he asserts Mrs Topper flew at her brother in law like a wildcat and cruelly and wantonly scratched him and otherwise disfigured his face and that after inflicting this punishment upon her sister's husband she turned on him with her finger nails and so mutilated his face that the wounds did not heal for more than three weeks immediately after this episod Mrs Topper's conduct is alleged to have become so disgraceful that Topper lost the position he then held with the Pacific Blower and Heating Company

One day after Mrs Topper's conduct had become so outrageous that he was forced to change their residence from Berkeley to Oakland Topper alleges that his spouse assaulted him with a hammer while he was taking a bath and tried to crack his skull On numerous occasions he alleges she threatened to kill him so in view of the fact that besides being a bigamist Mrs Topper is an uncontrollable vixen Topper sees not apparent reason which the nuptials bonds which bind him to his alleged illegal wife should not be promptly severed and he be restored to the estate of single blessedness

STATE MATERNITY HOMES ARE URGED

Case of Mrs. Lillian Winkle Leads Judge to Deplore Present Condition

While Mrs Lillian A Winkle of 1816 St Charles street Alameda is not regarded by Superior Judge Harris as a proper object for a state asylum for the insane nevertheless he expressed himself this morning as believing that she should be temporarily isolated He therefore continued her case for a week and ordered that she be cared for at the Receiving Hospital in the meantime When he calls the case up again in all probability he will make further provision for the unfortunate woman at a county charge In entering the order the judge said that he felt that he was "whipping the law around the bush" but that under the circumstances he felt he was justified in doing this from the standpoint of humanity if for no other reason

Refuse to Eat

The statement attributed to Judge Harris to the effect that he considered it unhuman that Mrs Winkle should be charged with insanity seems to have been overdrawn in view of his action this afternoon The woman was taken to the Receiving Hospital on a stretcher on complaint of her mother, Mrs Josephine D Anderson Two weeks ago she became a mother and since then had been violent and refused to take food Her husband is a sea-faring man and was away on a voyage, so in view of the fact that the family had no ready money and was not able to give her the proper care the attending physician Dr Chauncey P Pond of Alameda advised the insanity proceedings as the only means of getting her the attention the case demanded

Only Temporarily Insane

All of this Dr Pond explained to Judge Harris at the hearing today He said that he considered the woman's mental condition of only temporary import She had experienced a similar degree of illness after the birth of her second child about twenty months ago and the chances were all in favor of her complete recovery from the present attack if she could get the proper care and the absolute rest and solitude that her case demanded This she could not get at home

Judge Harris remarked that it was a pity the state had not long ago established a suitable lying-in asylum for just such temporary cases as the one before him and suggested that it would be wise for it to follow the example set by New York's only recently in this regard.

WESTERN PACIFIC PUTS ITS TRACKS ON GRADE

Through its attorney R M Fitzgerald the Western Pacific Company informed the City Council last night that it had raised the portion of the belt line railroad being constructed near the California cotton mills in East Oakland to the official grade of the streets

Former Councilman Aitken had requested the Council to order the tracks raised to the official grade of the streets so that the belt line would be available for use of the mills They were four feet below the street level

In explaining the matter Attorney Fitzgerald stated that the reason the tracks were below grade was that the grading had not been completed but that the company had now complied with all of the requirements
